Legislators discuss Local Aid, affordable housing, and cable television legislation

By STEPHEN BJORK

WILMINGTON - Selectmen met with State Senator Bruce Tarr and State Representative James Miceli on Monday to discuss pending cable television legislation, affordable housing laws, and Local Aid. The selectmen and legislators appeared to mesh perfectly in regard to the first two subjects, but found some dissension when discussing Local Aid.

In April, selectmen learned that the House- and Senate-approved Local Aid figures for fiscal year 2008 (FY08) were nearly $900,000 lower than those that had previously been proposed by Governor Deval Patrick. Despite the legislature's cuts, however, Wilmington would still receive nearly $2 million more in FY08 than it did in FY07, and nearly $700,000 more than it had originally anticipated.

During a televised meeting of the Board, Caira and several selectmen expressed dissatisfaction with the fact that, while Wilmington was receiving less than what the Governor had proposed, the legislature's Chapter 70 spending statewide was roughly $20 million more than the Governor's had been.

Miceli was subsequently quoted in the newspapers as taking exception to a number of comments made during that Board of Selectmen meeting.

As Board of Selectmen Chairman Michael Newhouse approached the subject of Local Aid during this most recent meeting, he acknowledged that the Board was disappointed by the legislature's figures, but pointed out that no one legislator was singled out for criticism.

"I did take umbrage," Miceli said. "When you heard (the meeting), it sounded as if we (in the legislature) fell short."

Miceli pointed out that $2 million over last year's figure was hardly indicative of falling short.

According to Miceli and Tarr, the Governor's numbers were not sustainable and did not reflect the formula that had been created by the legislature to remedy a number of long-existing inequities inherent in Local Aid.

"Chapter 70 still has a lot of problems, but the formula we created last year is the start of addressing inequities that exist between similar communities," Tarr said.

Wilmington has long been on the short side of the inequities existing within Chapter 70.

Newhouse acknowledged the increase the town would be seeing this year, but stated that seeing the governor earmark a certain amount of spending for Wilmington, and for the legislature to reduce that number, without reducing the governor's spending for every other city and town across the state, was "a tough pill to swallow."

"You talk about making decisions based on methodology, and I can appreciate that, except that the methodology and formula has been beating us up since 1993," Newhouse said. "It would not be appropriate for me, as a representative for Wilmington, to be too concerned about other cities and towns that are having prob-

Woburn Street shut-down

MWRA project ready to wrap up

By STEPHEN BJORK

WILMINGTON - Motorists who frequent the section of Woburn Street running between Lowell Street and Eames Street will want to plan an alternate route for the week of June 18th.

That section of roadway will be shut down beginning at 7:00 a.m. on Monday, June 18th to accommodate the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority (MWRA) connection project currently underway.

Crews have been working in the area since late March, but a final weeklong push will significantly shorten the duration of the project, and in the long run will lessen the inconvenience to motorists.

During the shut down, only emergency vehicles and residents living in the construction area will be permitted.

"We certainly appreciate everyone's cooperation during the shut-down," said Michael Woods, Wilmington's Water & Sewer Superintendent.

During the week of June 18th, crews will make all of the various connections to the new water main. The town will also take advantage of the shut down to avoid any potential safety issues that might have otherwise arisen during tree removal. A number of large trees, which will require the use of a crane for removal, will come down to accommodate the new sidewalk that the Department of Public Works will be installing.

The roadway will re-open on Friday, June 22nd, at 4:00 p.m. and with the MWRA project complete, and the road will have a fresh topcoat of pavement.

As the street opens back up, DPW crews will be moving right in to prepare for the new sidewalks. Grading work will be done and sidewalks will be constructed during the summer. Because the right-of-way is so narrow along that stretch of Woburn Street, the roadway will accommodate sidewalks on only one side.

Meanwhile, the MWRA project will be moving into Woburn to install 20-inch water mains to connect with the MWRA in the area of Mishawum Road. Woods expects the connection to MWRA to be made by the end of the year, though an excessively rainy season could slow the work down. Dry conditions will be needed in order to go through Woburn's re-developed Industri-Plex area.

Olin Chemical is covering the costs for the entire project. Originally in 2003, Olin had agreed to pay up to $3 million

Food Pantry latest beneficiary of local MOMS Club efforts

WILMINGTON - In one Wilmington home last week newly crowned "American Idol" Jordin Sparks was not the only winner. The local winner was the Wilmington Food Pantry when members of The MOMS Club of Wilmington gathered to watch the American Idol finale, and all brought food to donate to the pantry.

The MOMS Club (MOMS Offering MOMS Support) is an international non-profit organization aimed at providing support for mothers who have chosen to stay at home and raise their children.

The Wilmington area group was founded in 2005 by Wilmington newcomer Lisa Ward. The Wilmington chapter of the group, which also includes members from the surrounding towns of Tewksbury and Billerica, currently boasts more than 50 members.

Ward cites the group's mission statement, "Our goals include providing a forum for relevant topics, which enrich the lives of our children, as well as performing service pro-

Surprise party for Nortonen

NIS Principal readies for retirement

By MARCY RAGUCCI

WILMINGTON - The students and staff of the North Intermediate School surprised Principal Michele Nortonen last Friday with an assembly held in her honor to acknowledge her retirement at the end of this school year. Nortonen will finish a career in education spanning nearly 40 years.

Nortonen began her career with a student teaching assignment at the Wildwood School in 1968 with fifth grade teacher Martha Mahoney, who is also retiring this year as the librarian at the Shawsheen School. Then, as a senior at Lowell State College (now University of Lowell), Nortonen was hired by then Superintendent Walter Pierce to work 2 days a week as a physical education teacher at the Mildred Rogers School.

Her laudable career in education began in Wilmington where she was raised and, except for a brief period of

ABOUT HOME IMPROVEMENTS

You've spent a lot of money to upgrade your kitchen, to add a new room next to the garage, to rebuild the patio. Aren't all those tax-deductible?

Not directly. But you can add their cost to the tax basis in your house to reduce the taxable gain when you sell.

What you should do, whenever you make a capital improvement to your property, is to keep complete records of all the paperwork and payments. It would be a mistake to assume that the tax-free gain on your residence when you sell—$250,000 for individuals, $500,000 for owners filing jointly—will cover all improvements.

In time, real estate appreciation has ballooned past these figures. And in time, a family may add still more to the property. If documentation saves you thousands of dollars in taxes when you sell your home, terrific. If you don't beat the tax-free total—well, it wasn't that hard to save the old bills.

Here's another reason home ownership is such a good tax break. We'll show you more at:

Tarr secures funding for Wilmington cancer study $150,000 to investigate issues with Maple Meadow Brook aquifer

BOSTON - State Senate Assistant Minority Leader Bruce Tarr (R-Gloucester) has succeeded in amending the Senate version of the FY'08 state budget to provide $150,000 in funding for the Department of Public Health to research issues relating to cancer exposure and the Maple Meadow Brook Aquifer in Wilmington. Specific areas of inquiry in the study would include exposure routes and potential patterns of contamination involving the town's primary drinking water supply.

In addition, the study would include an investigation of several incidences in Wilmington of increase of childhood cancer that are alarming. They include brain cancer, leukemia, Hodgkin's disease and non-Hodgkin's lymphoma. National statistics indicate that cancer is among the most significant causes of death of children in the nation.

"The safety of Wilmington's drinking water is essential, and we need to continue to do everything possible to ensure that when someone turns on a faucet they're not introducing a health hazard into their home," said Tarr.

Senator Tarr thanked Senate President Murray and Ways and Means Chair Panagiotakos for their assistance with the passage of the amendment.

Letters to the editor

Where's our money going?

Dear Editor,

Where is our money going? My husband and I moved to Tewksbury three years ago because it was an up and coming town, had so much to offer, a good school system and was close to Rts. 93 & 495. We know of many people who are looking to move up this way or have done the same within the past three years. Over the past three years, however, we have seen our taxes increase, water rates increase, and the town budget become deeper and deeper in the negative. So, I ask again - Where is our money going?

I'm sure town officials do not want to unintentionally drive people out of Tewksbury and into our surrounding towns, but that could happen. Our town needs to be run like a Fortune 500 company - our goal should be making money while keeping all additional costs to the shareholders at a minimum (the shareholder represents the tax paying town citizen in this example.)

There are many capable families in town who effectively run a household with minimum debt, while effectively paying bills on time, paying for additional sports and activities, putting food on the table, and still being able to afford vacation and leisure activities. And this is all on two incomes. So, why can't our town do the same with multiple "incomes"?

I will be the first to admit, I am not privy to all of the Town's financials, but there has to be a way to do the following: decrease town costs (without eliminating jobs/activities) and increase town revenue (without raising taxes and rates/fees). Is our money being held at the right financial institution? Are our investments in the right places? Can we save money by making sure the whole town (including schools) is using the same office supply company? Maybe we already do, but is it still the right company? Are there better options out there? (On a personal note, I recently changed the type of checking account I held at my bank for 10 years, which in turn is saving me over $20 per month. Even though I am a loyal customer, I had to initiate the change.) This is the type of thing that the town needs to look into on a routine basis.

How can the town increase revenue without raising taxes? You can collect all outstanding taxes and fees from residents and businesses. I do understand some people cannot afford to pay all of them at once, but allow them to set up payment plans if necessary. Do residents know that they can make payments on their Sewer Connection Bill if they want to instead of being hit with the $3,000 at once? For the residents that owe late fees at the Library, pay them. If 10,000 people owe 10 cents in late fees, that equals $1,000. That's $1,000 towards a teacher's salary or a 4th of July celebration. Make the residents who have vehicles and licenses out of state change their status. Look to local businesses for donations and look to other towns. Contact them and see how they are making the dollar go further. Find out if they want to do some activities jointly.

In closing, I do realize that with inflation everything does rise. An increase in taxes and rates/fees is inevitable at some point. But, we need to look elsewhere first before we cut teaching positions, policemen, firemen and town bonding activities. Our town needs to work together. Each household and business has a responsibility as do all of the elected town officials and town committees. We need to make our town inviting to prospective families and businesses and keep it inviting to those who already reside here. Kudos to the person who realized that by combining two elections we would save money, and you'll probably attract more voters, too!

Sincerely,
Suzanne Ruf
Tewksbury

A note of thanks

Dear Editor,

This year due to surgeries, the American Legion National Sgt at Arms Joe Steen and Post 136 Commander Lou Cimaglia could not participate on Memorial Day at the cemetery or march in the parade. Our thanks go out to the Veteran's widows and families who participated with the placing of the flags on the gravesites. Special thanks to John Muese, Ray Parker, Glenn Hooper, and Kevin Mason for a job well done. We will always remember those who served our country and especially those who gave their lives, a reminder that "Freedom is not free." Thanks again for a job well done.

Proud to be part of a great town,
Nancy Steen

Fortnight in Review

by Jayne W. Miller

Outside my window late this night brings to mind all the joys of summer.

When we first adopted our rescued black Labrador retriever, Rodney, he was hit by our rather unfriendly, neighborhood skunk one night while sniffing around bushes that I'm sure, on hindsight, he rather wished he hadn't.

The poor dog, having previously survived being a stray in Alabama and a gunshot wound to his right rear leg, was rubbing his face rather hard on my concrete patio. I suspect our skunk was not of a fan of traditional doggie greetings, if you will.

Yes, our skunk is skulking about and our gardens bloom. No, faithful reader, the rather masculine looking, stinky mushroom has not yet made an appearance but our dandelions are looking quite smart smack in the middle of our lawn.

Now that Memorial Day is past I have hauled out all my white shoes, filled the propane tank, dug out my gardening gloves, made camp plans for my children, and pestered all my neighbors with pools for invitations. School is nearly out. And I swear the ice cream man has my neighborhood on dinner-hour radar.

I did not think that, come late June, Tewksbury would still be without a budget. The budget is a bit skunky, stinking like the anal glad emissions of that crepuscular animal.

The School Committee, having given lists of 5 percent and 10 percent cuts to the Finance Committee, seems reluctant now to actually decide upon which cuts. And who can blame them? Without a number, the committee cannot decide what needs cutting. Without a number, the finance committee cannot make a recommendation.

Yet, Town Manager David Cressman announced the projected $3.5 million budget shortfall in October of last year. So how is it that we find out in October, just three months into the fiscal year, that the town is effectively skunked for the upcoming three years at least, and still eight months later we're relying on a last ditch effort from the legislature to save our Braunschweiger.

We could blame the creation, and rather pallid execution, of the Blue Ribbon Committee. Or panel. I forget. And frankly, that is the hallmark of the Blue Ribbon Committee...it was forgettable.

The Committee, made up of smart business-people, took four months comprised of twenty hours of meetings, to conclude what the Board of Selectmen already knew. Without a significant source of new growth or an override, Tewksbury's budget outlook was pretty skunky. The Committee validated the projected shortfalls, recommended that the schools try to be preserved, and that the town search for sources of new growth.

To borrow a phrase... well, duh.

I can't help but think the Board of Selectmen effectively twiddled its thumbs while the fiscal dam in Tewksbury sprung a leak. And then another and another.

And once again, here we are ready to hand most of the problem to the schools. Here's news, the schools are not actually supposed to be revenue generators for the town. The Town needs to raise revenues to support services.

Jack Dunfee got up at town meeting Tuesday and said something no one wants to hear, and I'm pretty sure he was not entirely happy to say. That an override is necessary, if not imminent. The override picture will become clear over the next few months as the new Budget Task Force gears up.

In the meantime I'm anxious to hear some fiscal creativity from the candidates for the fifth seat on the Board of Selectmen. Dennis Francis, another U-25 alum, is the first to pull papers for the job. I'm sure we'll hear soon from David Gay of the planning board and Ed Doherty, who has no shortage of ideas or creative ways of expressing them.

The next election, in September, will likely sparkle even more than the last. And the way this town is going, we may not have an answer about the budget before then, though I'm hopeful.

The new board seems to have a healthy sense of urgency and the task force is made up of motivated residents with necessary expertise. We're all in for a hot, skunky summer. And the lack of budget resolve really makes it stink.

Your Two Cents...

What a great town we live in. A well attended memorial day parade, cheering and clapping by the crowd showed respect for our veterans, and mother nature kept the weather pretty comfortable. We all look forward to a great Fourth of July here in "Beautiful Wilmington."

Wilmington

A big Tip O' the Hat to the Wilmington Public Works Dept. While doing a little decorating in the town center, I watched the "Works Crew" cleaning the parade route at 6:00 a.m. on Memorial Day. Barrels along the parade route helped with after-parade trash and when it was all over they were right back at it. It's Tuesday morning now and the stretch of Church St. is spotless. Nice, nice job men!

They would like to send a special thank you to Market Basket, Extra Innings, Securitas and the Boston Red Sox for their contributions. Roy Patterson, from the Rec. Dept., joined Acusphere employees from left Brenda Papazian-Madden, Mary McKenna, President Sherri Oberg, Steve Cohn, Steve Pomer, Roy Patterson, and Rina Nazarov to accept the donation. WINCHESTER - Dr. Arlan F. Fuller, Jr., an accomplished physician with 28 years of experience in cancer treatment, has been appointed as Winchester Hospital's clinical vice president for the integration of oncology services and academic affiliations. A resident of Winchester who has been affiliated with Winchester Hospital since 1997, Dr. Fuller will join Dr. Nancy Chun and Dr. Alan Edelstein at the Hematology and Oncology Center at 88 Montvale Avenue in Stoneham, effective July 30. "We're pleased to welcome a respected physician of Dr. Fuller's renown to our medical staff," said Franklin B. Waddell, MD, chairman of obstetrics and gynecology at Winchester Hospital. "His expertise will benefit our patients through the development of a dedicated Cancer Care Center at 620 Washington Street in Winchester." "This is a very exciting time for the hospital and the community," said Gloria Korta, MD, incoming president of the Medical and Allied Healthcare Professional Staff at Winchester Hospital. "Dr. Fuller has been a valued friend and colleague for many years. I look forward to his leadership and expanded role at our new Cancer Care Center." "Over the past 20 years, the treatment of cancer has progressively moved from the inpatient acute care hospital to the outpatient setting. Winchester Hospital's focus on the development of a regional cancer program at 620 Washington Street anticipates the future needs of the community. This Cancer Care Center will deliver state-of-the-art clinical care with a focus on the individual needs of each patient and his or her family," Dr. Fuller said. "I have had a long working relationship with the physicians of Winchester Hospital. They are committed to excellence in their medical practice and in the care of their patients. I look forward to being part of this outstanding medical staff."

A prolific writer and sought-after speaker and instructor at worldwide venues, Dr. Fuller most recently served as long-time chief of Massachusetts General Hospital's Division of Gynecologic Oncology, as well as clinical director of the gynecologic cancer program in its Cancer Center. In the course of years of training medical students, residents and fellows in cancer treatment, he was a finalist for the Humanism in Medicine Award from Harvard Medical School in 2006.

Tewksbury Hospital receives Distinguished Service Award

TEWKSBURY - Tewksbury Hospital's, C.E.O., Sandra Akers announced that on Tuesday, May 22, at special State House reception in the Hall of Flags, Elizabeth Childs, M.D., Commissioner of the Department of Mental Health presented the Tewksbury Hospital's Art and Healing Program a Massachusetts Distinguished Service Award for its exemplified work in their concepts of rehabilitation and recovery.

"The Arts and Healing Program at Tewksbury Hospital, is an ongoing example of rehabilitation and recovery, stamped with the firm commitment of those involved. Each event provides the chance for a new journey, where personal growth and healing may prosper." Marilyn Johnson, OTR/L, Tewksbury Hospital.

Nominees were chosen from individuals and organization from all over Massachusetts to honor the contributions of those who have made a significant impact on the lives of people with mental illness.

About the nomination (Submitted by Marilyn Johnson, OTR/L):

The people involved in this program are a group of very dedicated professionals, who have worked collaboratively to establish and maintain a program which has offered and continues to offer a variety of opportunities in the arts, for both, DPH and DMH patients.

The people involved in the Arts and Healing Program have put in countless hours of planning and effort to ensure that every program offered is a success. The diversity of the population that they involve in the activities, often presents unique situations that need to be addressed, and somehow they manage to meet those needs, while providing an enriching environment for the patients, as well as themselves.

They focus on the strengths and talents of the patients, reinforcing what they can do, which has improved self-confidence and self-esteem of those involved in the various activities and productions. The programs offered have provided many options for self-expression and self-discovery and has truly created the concept of community.

Many of those who have participated, have stated that they now realize that everyone can contribute to the process, no matter what life limitations they may have, and many of the participants have shared their inner most thoughts and feelings with an audience, which in itself is a tremendously empowering accomplishment.

They have expanded programs to include the patients on the unit, by taking the programs to the units, reaching many individuals who would not be able to be involved, in an effort to reach as many of the patients as possible.

The many special events and artist residency programs are made possible due to the generosity of the Jane's Trust, Vermont Arts Exchange and the Massachusetts Cultural Council.

Some of the events offered this past year include the following:

- "Here Today", which was a showing of a Substance Abuse film by filmmaker, Bess O'Brien

- "Let Dance Happen!" with dancer, Michelle Pearson

- "Transforming the Myth" was a theater production involving patients and staff

- "The Rhythm of Life" with percussionist, Michael Wingfield

- Writing workshops, (The East Street Writers), with author Peggy Rambach

- "The Lions and Rabbits", an original theater production

- Weaving Mandalas, with weaver Sarah Haskell, which is the current ongoing project. They have a parade of the Mandalas scheduled in April.

- The Regional Convening of Artists and Healthcare Professionals, "The Healing Arts: New Pathways to Health and Community", was held this past October. It providing an opportunity for patients and staff to showcase the various skills they have learned, while participating in the Arts and Healing Program.

- Drumming groups continue to be held on the units, on a rotating basis

- "Hyperscore" groups are also being twice a week, as well. This is the use of a computer program to compose your own music. This program can be used by anyone, regardless of skill level. Those who have been involved in Hyperscore, have also given concerts where their music has been showcased. At the first concert, a symphony orchestra played the compositions to the delight of the composers!

- There has also been a DVD made, which is "The Healing Arts: New Pathways to Health" compiled by filmmaker, Ben Mayer. The DVD chronicles the various events and activities which have occurred and their positive impact on all who have been involved with the Arts and Healing Project.

Suzanne Gagnon

Taught in Wilmington School System

WALPOLE, ME - Suzanne (Koch) Gagnon, of Walpole, ME, died at her home on May 27 after a courageous battle with leukemia. Her warmth, compassion, grace, and humor will be greatly missed by all those whose lives she touched.

Suzanne was born in White Plains, New York and raised in Walpole, Maine. After attending the University of Maine, she married Reginald Gagnon. They eventually settled in North Reading, Massachusetts, where they raised their three children, and Suzanne taught mathematics in the Wilmington school system.

After retiring, Suzanne and Reginald moved to Walpole, Maine, where Suzanne was active in the community, serving on the boards of CONA (Citizens Opposed to Nuclear Arms) and CHIPS (Community Improvement Projects), working as a steward for the Damariscotta River Association, and volunteering at the Pemaquid Light House. She was also an active member of St. Patrick's Church in Newcastle.

Suzanne loved Haiti, and she went there several times to volunteer with the Saint Boniface Haiti Foundation, including a 4-month stay when she and Reginald served as house parents for boys who lived in rural Haiti and wanted to attend secondary school in Port au Prince.

Suzanne was the daughter of the late Vincent and Natalie Koch, and the sister of Frank Koch, Lucille Craib, and the late William Koch. In addition to her husband, she is survived by her three children Thomas Gagnon, Ruth Gagnon Estabrook, and Paul Gagnon, and her three grandchildren, Simon Estabrook, Luke Estabrook, and Sarah Gagnon.

Winchester Hospital nurses earn Nursing Spectrum Excellence Awards

Marlene Williamson

WINCHESTER - Two Winchester Hospital nurses received New England 2007 Nursing Spectrum Excellence Awards, and two others were honored as finalists at a ceremony held May 15 at the Burlington Marriott.

Janice Palmer, an outpatient lactation consultant providing individual and group counseling, won the award in the Clinical Care category for excellence in direct care delivery. She has focused on service excellence, growing Winchester Hospital's outpatient lactation program to one that cares for more than 470 mothers each year. She personally identified Winchester Hospital's need for an outpatient lactation consultant, got trained, acquired the necessary hours of experience and became certified. Palmer also instituted a weekly Nursing Mothers' Group for breastfeeding mothers and babies.

The winner in the Mentoring category was Kathleen Beyerman, who serves as director of nursing staff development, clinical and nursing research, and the Winchester Hospital Community Health Institute. Beyerman exercises the versatility to successfully mentor nurses, chiropractors, hypnotists, massage therapists, acupuncturists, Reiki therapists, nutritional and weight management therapists, and administrative support staff.

Marlene Williamson, director of nursing programs and Magnet project director, was honored as a finalist in the category of Advancing and Leading the Profession. As the hospital's Magnet program advocate, organizer and champion, she was recognized for leading programs that resulted in Winchester Hospital being named the first community hospital in Massachusetts to earn Magnet Recognition from the American Nurses Association. Williamson has also implemented programs that give nurses a voice and opportunities for advancing their educations. Her ability to launch successful initiatives is well-known, making her a sought-after mentor as well as a reputed Magnet expert.

Sheryl Smith, a labor and delivery nurse, was a finalist in the category of Community Service for her significant professional and voluntary contributions in a community-based setting. She co-championed the creation of the Magnet Nurses Charitable Fund because she felt the organization had a moral obligation to share resources with those in need. She volunteered to serve as the fund's co-chair and campaigned throughout Winchester Hospital, inspiring nurses, physicians, hospital leaders and others to donate $10,000 which was used to support three mobile nursing libraries in remote villages in Africa. The units help to educate nurses and others about evidence-based care in AIDS, genital mutilation, malnutrition and other area-specific diseases.

"We are extremely proud our nurses were honored in four of the six Nursing Spectrum Excellence Awards categories," said Kathy Schuler, vice president of patient care services and chief nursing officer at Winchester Hospital. "This recognition is further validation of the dedication our nurses demonstrate each day in providing the best possible care for all our patients."

Wilmington Educational Foundation at Barnes and Noble-Burlington store

WILMINGTON - The Wilmington Educational Foundation has teamed up with Barnes & Noble in Burlington to sponsor a three-day bookfair fundraising event to be held June 8th-10th. This event is geared toward the summer reading lists that are being distributed to all Wilmington Public School students. Barnes & Noble will donate a percentage of every sale from every customer who presents a book fair voucher during the three-day event.

These funds will be contributed by Barnes & Noble to the Wilmington Educational Foundation (WEF), which in turn awards grants back to the school system to fund innovative and creative educational opportunities not included in the school district's current-year budget. During this school year, WEF has helped to sponsor a bullying-prevention program, technology mini-grants, a school grant to the Middle School to provide support to middle school families, summer study programs to the Grand Canyon and Alaska for two faculty members, a music scholarship endowment, the Wilmington Memorial Library's Wilmington Reads 2007 guest author visit, and a nationally-recognized keynote speaker for Wilmington faculty's Professional Development Day.

To participate in the Barnes & Noble bookfair for WEF, customers will present a bookfair voucher to the cashiers at the retail store when they purchase books, CDs, DVDs, games, gifts, and café gift items. The purchase of gift cards and café consumables are excluded from this program. These vouchers, along with the summer reading lists, will be sent home with Wilmington students as well as be made available on the school district's web site, the WEF web site, and also upon request when patrons are shopping at the Barnes & Noble Burlington store on June 8th-10th.

Barnes & Noble will be featuring special programs during the WEF book fair. On Friday evening, June 8th, at 7:30 pm, the store will host "The Beacon Street Girls" co-creator and editorial director, Roberta MacPhee, and a special signing celebrating the arrival of the new BSG book, Maeve on the Red Carpet Special "Beacon Street Girls" giveaways will also be made. On Saturday and Sunday, June 9th and 10th, various staff members from the Wilmington Public Schools will be doing special guest readings at various times and can answer questions about the school summer reading book lists.

All events at Barnes & Noble are free and open to the general public. Please come and help support the Wilmington Educational Foundation. If you have any questions, you may contact Jacquie Raffi at jacquie.raffi@wilmington.k12.ma.us or 978-694-6000, or visit the WEF website at www.wilmingtoneducationalfoundation.org.

Wilmington Senior Topics

This year the Department of Elderly Services recognized Memorial Day on Thursday May 24, 2007. There was "Remember Our Veterans" Luncheon at the Buzzell Senior Center. This was a great opportunity to get everyone together and share our appreciation for all our American Veterans that made our country what it is today. We took a moment to thank the active soldiers that are protecting our country. Edna Ferguson, a Wilmington resident and veteran. Wrote a wonderful poem:

Memories

Every year it gets harder to find,
Suitable thoughts for a Memorial Day rhyme.
There's only so much that can be said,
Both of the living and the dead.
We honor those who are not here,
We all have shed many a tear.
But, life's for the living so we must go on,
Singing our praises in a song.
America America God shed his grace on thee,
And crown thy good with brotherhood,
From sea to shining sea.
And as the day draws to a close,
My prayers will always be with those.
That keeps our country safe and free,
Protector's of our Liberty.
God Bless America
The Greatest Land of All.

We thank all the volunteers that made this event such a success.

Finegold pledges constituent Bill of Rights

Releases plans to facilitate direct constituent access

ANDOVER - Barry Finegold unveiled his constituent's Bill of Rights today, a comprehensive program designed to facilitate communication and direct contact with 5th District constituents and their priorities.

"As I have said throughout this campaign, each voter, each town, and each city of the 5th District is equally important to me," said Finegold. "Connecting with as many people in as many of the 29 cities and towns in this district is my priority throughout this campaign. And it will remain my priority when in Congress."

Finegold endeavors to create as many access points as possible for local community members to access his Washington office, local state offices, and his staff.

"Representatives in Congress serve as a direct liaison between local communities and the federal government," said Finegold. "For that process to function well, representatives must be accessible to their constituents and maintain abreast of their top priorities - direct access is the best way to make that happen."

To strengthen that constituent connection and serve the interests of the 5th District's 29 cities and towns, Finegold released the following 10-point constituent's Bill of Rights:

Direct Access

1) Constituents will have four state offices available to them, to be located in Lawrence, Haverhill, Lowell, and Hudson.
2) Constituents will be provided a 1-800 number to reach Finegold's offices.

3) Constituents are guaranteed monthly office hours in each city and town of the 5th District.

4) Constituents will continue to have District Day - an opportunity to meet with Barry in Washington - with supplemental funding options for those who need travel reimbursement.

5) Finegold will maintain his primary residence in Andover, MA, not Washington, DC.

6) Constituents will be afforded an interactive website, complete with live blogging, online chats, and a "Bold Ideas Forum" in order for Barry and his staff to maintain communication with constituents and the local online communities.

Federal, State, and Local Government Connections: Bringing Resources Home
7) Finegold will hold regular meetings with Massachusetts state representatives and state senators.

8) Finegold pledges that in his first term, he will appear before every board of selectmen and city council in the 5th District.

9) Finegold pledges to have a grant coordinator on staff, to ensure the pursuit that all possible funding sources for all 29 communities of the 5th District.

Big Ideas, Bold Solutions
10) Barry will establish the following advisory caucuses, comprised of community leaders, industry professionals, and elected officials, in order to bring big ideas to fruition in Washington:

Global Warming and Alternative Energy Caucus
Veterans Caucus
Health Care Caucus
Economic Development Caucus

Homeland Security Caucus
Senior Caucus

Youth Caucus

Wilmington Innovative Teacher Award program

WILMINGTON - What do butterflies, cameras, and pedometers have in common? These are some of the subjects for study that have been funded through the Wilmington School Business Partnership's Innovative Teacher Award grant program during this school year, to benefit Wilmington public school students.

Each year, teachers within the Wilmington School District have the opportunity to apply for additional funding for classroom projects through the Innovative Teacher Award program. This year's award recipients and their projects include: from the Shawsheen School third-grade teacher Michele Gramaglia, for video equipment; second-grade teacher Nancy Iorio, for "Spread Your Wings and Fly The Butterfly Place", and art specialist teacher Lynne Vik, for digital photography; and from the Woburn Street School, third-grade teacher Tracy Jansen, for "Building Community through Poetry", and physical education specialist teacher Laura Stinson for "On the Move with Pedometers". These award recipients use the grants given by the School Business Partnership to supplement and enhance their classrooms' curriculum and their students' educational experiences.

The Shawsheen School's second graders will be visiting The Butterfly Place on May 23rd as an extension of their classroom learning framed within the school system's science curriculum unit on the life cycle of the butterfly. As award-recipient Mrs. Iorio explains, "This visit will be a wonderful culminating activity for our second graders to learn about additional species of butterflies in an atrium which exhibits species of butterflies from all over the world." In April, 3rd graders in Mrs. Stinson's physical education classes learned how to use pedometers to measure their movement during various activities, with the goal of achieving the fitness standard of 2,400 steps. Using pedometers not only increased the enthusiasm and activity level of the students, but also allowed them to learn about the health benefits of walking to improve cardio-respiratory fitness.

The Wilmington School Business Partnership is a non-profit organization established as a collaborative effort among local businesses, community agencies, and the Wilmington Public School System. The Partnership provides students the assistance available through the cooperative commitment of business people and educators sharing knowledge, experience and resources. Some of the offerings of the Partnership include a mentoring program, scholarships for Wilmington High School graduating students, and a job shadow program. As Kellie McNary, Director of Human Resources at DSM NeoResins here in Wilmington and President of the Wilmington School Business Partnership says, "I feel it is important to work with our community and our teachers to help broaden the education process. The partnership provides opportunity and helps students view different aspects of business through the eyes of the people working in Wilmington."

The Wilmington School Business Partnership raises funds for its programs primarily through membership dues and its annual golf tournament, which is scheduled this year for Friday, September 28th 2007 at Hillview Country Club. For more information on the School Business Partnership, please contact Kellie McNary at 978-479-6358.

Finegold proposes to help veterans buy a home and to pay for college for the children of those killed in action

ANDOVER - State representative Barry Finegold released two bold ideas today to support our nation's veterans as they return from active duty service in Iraq and Afghanistan.

"These men and women put their lives on the line for us every day," said Finegold. "When they come back to America, it's always a struggle to readjust. The best thing we can do is help them get a home, get an asset, and get centered in the community. In addition, we ought to pay for the college tuition for the children of those who paid the ultimate price, to make sure their kids have opportunity."

Recent studies have shown that veterans returning from active combat in Iraq and Afghanistan struggle with the crippling problems of depression, anxiety, and post-traumatic stress disorder. Additionally, a recent University of Chicago report found unemployment among veterans ages 20 - 24 to be 10.4 percent, nearly double the national rate. These facts illustrate some of the key obstacles veterans face in re-establishing structure after combat duty.

Finegold proposes revamping the current mortgage loan programs for our veterans, to make sure veterans can get low interest rate mortgages to buy a home. Finegold also proposes having the federal government pay for the in-state college tuition for the children of those service members killed in action.

John Ratka, Executive Director of the Veterans Northeast Outreach Center, has endorsed Barry's proposals. "I applaud Barry's initiative on these veterans issues," said Ratka. "I wholeheartedly support these key proposals, as they focus on two extremely important areas of need for our veterans and their families."

Mortgage Loan Plan

Finegold's mortgage loan plan would seek to offer veterans loans backed by tax-free bonds. These bonds would function like municipal bonds, enabling our veterans to lock in lower mortgage rates.

By having the loans backed by veterans' bonds, we can not only encourage societal support for our veterans, but ensure the low mortgage rate, improving our veterans' ability to invest in their future and the future of their children.

"Today there is no difference between the rates of a VA loan and the rates of a loan from your corner bank," Barry said. "We can and should do better."

Children's College Plan

Finegold proposes that free in-state tuition be afforded to all children of soldiers killed in active duty during wartime, or children of those who die as a result of service related injuries.

"Nothing is more essential to a young person's future than his or her education. Given the traumas associated with losing a parent and potentially becoming the head of a household, our country must support educational incentives and programs for the veterans' community," said Finegold. "This proposal is a step forward."

The plan calls for children to be able to matriculate at the state school of their choice. Under this plan, qualifying students would also receive a scholarship. These scholarships would be provided at up to $2500 to go towards room, board, rent, books, and supplies. Any student in this funding program would receive tuition and scholarship for a maximum of four years of undergraduate education.

Tarr secures funding for Wilmington Cancer Study

$150,000 To Investigate Issues With Maple Meadow Brook Aquifer

BOSTON - State Senate Assistant Minority Leader Bruce Tarr (R-Gloucester) has succeeded in amending the Senate version of the FY08 state budget to provide $150,000 in funding for the Department of Public Health to research issues relating to cancer exposure and the Maple Meadow Brook Aquifer in Wilmington.

Specific areas of inquiry in the study would include exposure routes and potential patterns of contamination involving the town's primary drinking water supply.

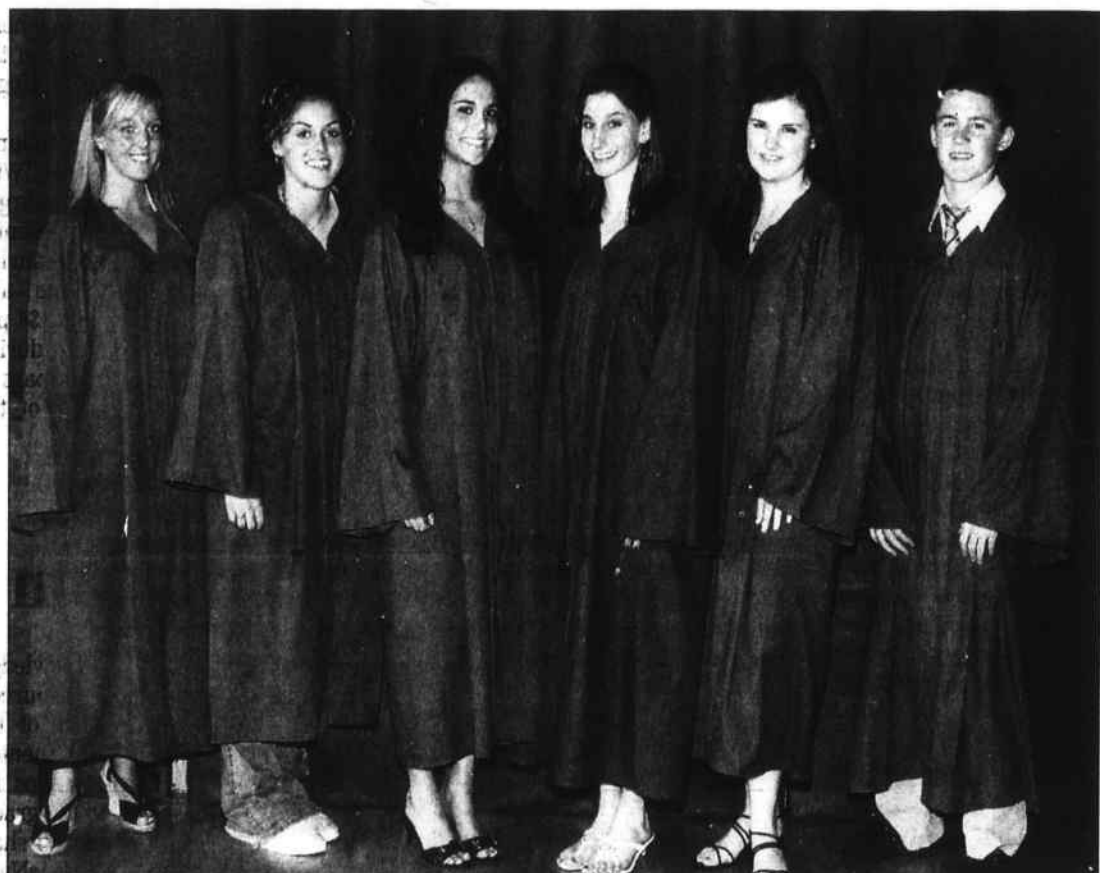

In addition, the study would include an investigation of several incidences in Wilmington of increase of childhood cancer that are alarming. They include brain cancer, leukemia, Hodgkin's disease and non-Hodgkin's lymphoma. National statistics indicate that cancer is among the most significant causes of death of children in the nation.

"The safety of Wilmington's drinking water is essential, and we need to continue to do everything possible to ensure that when someone turns on a faucet they're not introducing a health hazard into their home," said Tarr.

Senator Tarr thanked Senate President Murray and Ways and Means Chair Panagiotakos for their assistance with the passage of the amendment.

Finegold disappointed in passage of the Iraq compromise by the House and Senate

ANDOVER - Congressional candidate Barry Finegold expressed his disappointment today in the passage of the Iraq compromise bill in both the House and the Senate.

"I am very disheartened to see this bill pass both houses of Congress and I would have voted no," said Finegold. "It neither sets a timeline for withdrawal from Iraq nor requires that President Bush abide by the benchmarks it recommends for the Iraqis. With its passage, the Democratic majority lost an opportunity to force the President's hand."

Finegold has articulated support for a three-state plan proposed by Senator Biden and Les Gelb. The plan envisions a centrally federated republic of three states for the three main factions: Shi'ite, Sunni, and Kurdish. Finegold also believes the Bush administration has failed dismally in regional diplomacy, which has an important role to play in moving towards peace.

"I support a three state solution for Iraq with a timeline for withdrawal and robust diplomacy in the region. But I do believe that this President has to be held accountable and this bill doesn't do so," said Barry. "In Congress, I will represent the will of the people of the 5th District and hold President Bush responsible and accountable for his failed policies."

jects that benefit mothers and children. Parenting is a rewarding career, but it can also be a difficult one. Therefore, the MOMS Club is here to offer support and understanding for one another through the joys and trials of motherhood.

Ward said, "I originally started the MOMS Club so my kids would get to know other kids in town and I would get to know other moms. We were new in Wilmington and surrounding towns have different types of clubs for mothers and children, but I wanted to get to know my community. Now I am so happy to know so many wonderful people."

Co-President Michelle Bryan adds "The club is made of people who are new to the area as well as people who grew up here. For the moms new to the area, it's a great resource to learn the local favorites (dentist, servicemen, restaurants, parks and activities). Moms have access to an online support system that can get them trusted answers."

Participating moms enjoy a variety of social and community service activities. This food drive for the Wilmington Food Pantry was inspired by ONE.org, the "American Idol" effort to raise funds to help people living in poverty. Ward said that on the website they encouraged Idol fans to hold house parties to end poverty. In keeping with the MOMS Club mission statement, they chose to help families put food on the

The next fundraiser for this group will be the creation of a cookbook that will be sold during the Fourth of July festivities. Money raised from this collection of member recipes will be used for other service projects and events throughout the year.

Anyone seeking more information about The MOMS Club of Wilmington, or their upcoming cookbook fundraiser, are invited to stop by the group's table at the Fourth of July festivities or find contact information on the website www.geocities.com/mom-sclubofwilmington/ or write to The MOMS Club of Wilmington at PO Box 21, Wilmington, MA 01887.

Samuel F. Grant earns Boston College High School honors

Samuel F. Grant (Class of '10) of Wilmington achieved High Honors for the third quarter at Boston College High School. For High Honors a student must have at least a 3.8 quality point average.

a Jesuit, Catholic, college-preparatory school for young men founded in 1863. The school enrolls approximately 1300 students from some 100 communities in eastern Massachusetts.

time, she spent most of her career in the town that she loves. The schools in Wilmington where she taught include the Whitefield School in North Wilmington, the Wildwood School, the Shawsheen School, the Woburn Street School, and the West Intermediate.

In 1974, during her fifth year in the Wilmington School System, while she was teaching 4th grade at the Wildwood School, she asked for and was granted a leave of absence in order to spend a year volunteering on a Navaho Indian reservation. Nortonen spent that school year teaching Navaho children in St. Michaels, Arizona, 30 miles west of Gallup, New Mexico.

"It was an extraordinary experience to live among people of another culture," Nortonen said. "The Navaho are a very kind and gentle people who place a great emphasis on education. It was a pleasure to teach their children. I learned many things there, including life lessons in tolerance and diversity. And as far as kids are concerned - kids are kids no matter what culture they're brought up in! All parents want what's best for their kids, and the Navaho parents were no exception. One of my fondest memories during that period was taking six kids home with me for a 2-week summer vacation. And then they had the experience to live among people of a different culture."

Nortonen returned to Wilmington the following year to teach grade 4 at the Woburn Street School for several years. She was then asked to take over the Gifted and Talented Program for grades 4-8 for about a year and a half.

Prior to taking the reigns at the North Intermediate School, Nortonen taught at the Shawsheen School and served as the Assistant Principal there for three years. During her last year in the classroom, she was one of three finalists for Massachusetts Teacher of the Year. The vast majority of her career has been spent in Wilmington, but she did explore opportunities outside of Wilmington during the mid-to-late 1990's, during which she continued to distinguish herself.

She was employed as the Principal of Danville Elementary School in the Timberlane Regional School District in New Hampshire. With 250 children in grades 1 through 5, the school was recognized as a Blue Ribbon School. While Principal of the Abbott School in Westford in 1996, 1997 and 1998, the students achieved top scores in MCAS, ranking in the top 5 percent in Massachusetts. Nortonen remarked proudly, "It was a real feather in the cap of the teachers - an achievement in which they and their students were very proud."

It was a pleasure to have the opportunity to return to Wilmington, however.

"I grew up in Wilmington and I wanted to work here because I wanted to give back to the community," Nortonen said. "I believe in the town."

There have been changes since Nortonen began her career. "When I started out, teachers were 'the sage on the stage' and now they're 'the guide on the side,'" Nortonen said. "Teachers are now facilitators and they orchestrate a child's learning in a different manner."

Nortonen is proud of her determination to encourage parents to take a more active role in their child's education and of giving them more opportunities to become involved. For example, there were programs like the Dads' Group and the Principal's Coffee Hour - which was held every other month where parents could say whatever was on their mind in an informal setting. The SAC (School Advisory Council) and PAC (Parents Advisory Council) were also very important to Nortonen. She is also very pleased with the young talent she has hired for classroom teachers and the manner in which they work so collegially with the more seasoned staff. In her role as principal of the North, she has instituted social competency programs for her students, such as Attribute of the Month, the North Café, and anti-bullying lessons. Another sense of pride is when the Wilmington Sons of Italy, an organization of which she is an active member and statewide officer, financed a playground for the North Intermediate School. "That organization saw a need and they filled it."

Nortonen notes one of the most profound influences in her life, "My parents taught us about family values and they instilled in us a love of tradition and cultures, as well as a commitment to community service. My parents played a major role in who I have become as a person."

In her professional life, Nortonen credits the writings and ideas of Dr. Lorraine Monroe as being a major influence.

Dr. Monroe is the founder of the Lorraine Monroe Leadership Institute (LMLI) and was the founding principal of the renowned Frederick Douglass Academy in Central Harlem. Additionally, she has taught graduate courses and founded and directed the Center for Minority Achievement at the Bank Street College of Education. According to the LMLI website, Dr. Monroe's groundbreaking work, which speaks to the role of leadership in creating effective schools, has been featured on 60 Minutes, Tony Brown's Journal, The McCreary Report, in Ebony Magazine, The New York Times, Reader's Digest, Parade Magazine, and Fast Company Magazine.

According to Nortonen, "Monroe believes that every child deserves a chance to succeed and, with the right instruction that is both concentrated and differentiated, every child can succeed." She is very excited that Dr. Monroe will be the featured speaker during one of next year's inservice days in November.

As far as plans for post-retirement life, Nortonen intends to take every day as it comes. However, she does have some trips planned already.

In August she will be spending time in New Hampshire, particularly on August 28th 2007. That is the day that school is scheduled to start up, and it will pretty much be the first time in memory that she will not be a part of it. While looking forward to retirement, she is experiencing a sense of sadness at the thought of leaving.

"After all, I have been attending school since I was 5 years old," Nortonen said. "I will truly miss my extended family at school, especially the children who have made a tremendous impact in my life."

Looking back on her long and impressive career in education, Nortonen reflects, "I only hope that, in some small way, I have influenced (the students) lives to the extent that they have enriched mine."

lems, because we've worked hard to be where we are."

Miceli reiterated that the impression he took from that April meeting was negative.

"I think the impression that was given that night, if you want to keep beating this thing, was that the legislature screwed up, and 'why didn't we get the Governor's figures,'" Miceli said. "You have never gotten the Governor's figures. I can't remember the last time the Governor's numbers were adhered to."

Caira acknowledged that the Governor's figures have not been used in recent memory.

"I would agree with you that the Governor's numbers - in all my time as a municipal official - have never been the numbers to rely on, because they have always been lower than the legislature's," Caira said. "In fact, I cannot think - and I would welcome you to tell me - of a time when Wilmington has gotten less money from the legislature's numbers than from the Governor's."

Caira reiterated that he was pleased with the Local Aid coming to the town in FY08, but naturally would have been more pleased with the Governor's figures.

"If someone was to offer you $3 million, instead of $2 million, my sense is, most people would prefer the $3 million," Caira said. "They wouldn't say 'no' to the two, but they'd prefer the three."

Tarr expressed a desire for the Board and the legislators to move past the disagreement, and pledged better communication in the future.

"I still think we have work to do on this formula, but while we're working on it, I want to make sure we're seeing forward progress, and I think we are," Tarr said.

The Local Aid inequities are being addressed in a five-year plan initiated by the legislature last year. Tarr stressed the importance, for Wilmington and other communities, to stick to the new formula for all five years. He pledged his commitment to that end.

"I might not be here next year, if all goes well," said Miceli, who is running for a congressional seat that does not include Wilmington in its district, "but I hope that whoever is here will follow through with this."

Chapter 40B/Affordable housing

Tarr and Miceli informed the Board that there are a number of bills pending in both the House and the Senate that aim to address problems with Chapter 40B.

According to Tarr, one of the major problems with Chapter 40B is that it does not acknowledge all of the existing housing stock that provides affordable options for residents, such as accessory apartments - commonly referred to as 'in-law apartments.'

"There are units that are housing the people that we are interested in housing, but that are not getting counted," Tarr said.

Tarr detailed a bill in the Senate that seeks to look at the issue of accessory apartments in regard to Chapter 40B, and also a bill that seeks to increase the minimum percentage of affordable units that would be created in any affordable housing development.

According to Miceli, the House is looking at bills that address density issues and the appeals process, specifically to change the make-up of the state's housing appeals board.

Tarr and Miceli both stated that relief for communities experiencing the impact of dense projects built on their borders is being explored as well.

"The message you are sending is what we asked for," Newhouse said. "All we can do is push you to effectuate it."

Verizon Cable Legislation

Assistant Town Manager Jeffrey Hull iterated the position of the town in regard to Verizon's proposed cable television legislation. According to Hull, the town is very much in favor of competition in the marketplace, but Verizon's legislation would shift the balance and provide favorable conditions to newcomers.

Secondly, Hull considers Verizon's contention that it cannot get prompt licensing from towns to be flawed.

"In some ways they have advantages over Comcast," Hull said. "Verizon has the ability to install wiring in a town before even getting a license."

Thirdly, for the last 25 to 30 years, there has been recognition that cable companies have to use public right-of-ways in order to operate. In exchange for using those public right-of-ways, cable has provided communities with public access television stations and, in Wilmington, with an intranet connecting municipal and school buildings. The Verizon legislation, according to Hull, endangers those agreements.

Woburn Street shut-down

for the project construction. However, as the price of oil, steel, diesel fuel and asphalt increased, project estimates were impacted. Olin later agreed to pay up to $4.5 million.

The move toward connecting to the MWRA as a supplemental water source has been in the works for a number of years. The community first identified such a need in 1996. The engineering firm of SEA Consultants was engaged by the town from 2001 to 2003 to identify potential pipeline routes. The permitting process to allow for the opening of streets in Woburn to accommodate construction was recently completed, thus opening the door for the bidding process.

Currently, when water levels are down and emergency water is needed, the town purchases water from neighboring communities. Utilizing MWRA water during peak usage periods in summer months will reduce stress to the Ipswich River Watershed, and should eliminate the town's water shortages.

Once the town is connected to MWRA, Woods expects some of the watering bans to be lifted. Though unrestricted watering of lawns will never be seen again in Wilmington, and will likely become a thing of the past throughout the state, it is likely that residents will be permitted to water their lawns and gardens - so long as they adhere to a schedule outlined by the town - once the MWRA connection is made.

The move toward MWRA as a supplemental water source, contrary to popular belief, did not begin with the closing due to contamination of five of Wilmington's nine wells. The Town first identified such a need in 1996. The services of SEA Consultants were engaged from 2001 to 2003 to identify potential pipeline routes.

Upon the February 2003 discovery of N-nitrosodimethylamine (NDMA) in the Maple Meadow Brook Aquifer, SEA began designing the emergency pipeline connection to the MWRA as a permanent connection.

Wildcat track teams crown three state champions

Condell changes gear to 800 title

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

You might say that Mike Condell is a fast learner. Of course if you said that, it would probably qualify as quite an understatement for the Wilmington High junior. Condell, who on Saturday won the state title in the 800 meters at the MIAA Division 3 track and field meet at Milton High School has proven to be more than just a fast learner for the Wildcats, he has proven himself to be a star in the making.

Star in the making actually may also fall a little short of describing the junior as well, as after just five races at the 800 meter distance he is already a state champion, winning in a time of 1:58.86, falling just short of his season best time. Condell had been running the 400 meters for most of the season before coach Bob Cripps decided late in the year to move him to the 800.

It was certainly not an unheard of move, but it was far from typical, as usually if a runner moves from one event to another, it is to a shorter distance. And it is most certainly not typical to see an athlete make the switch and wind up state champion three weeks later.

"I have had kids make the switch, but it is not easy, it is very difficult, Cripps said. "I would usually have them shift down instead of up, but Mike is someone who you know you can count on in every meet."

For Condell - who was also an all-conference soccer player in the fall - being a Division 3 state champion may not have been something he was necessarily counting on when he switched events a few weeks back, but he certainly was confident enough in himself to know he had the ability to be the best, and he is most definitely enjoying the fruits of his labor right now.

"It was great to finish the race and realize what I had just done," Condell said. "It is great to win at meets and win as a team, but it is also nice to have an individual accomplishment as well."

After finishing second in last week's Cape Ann League meet, Condell knew what he was capable of when facing stiff competition. In fact, he knows he has his competition to thank for his doing so well in Saturday's meet.

"Absolutely. You can only run so fast when you are by yourself," Condell said. "When you've got someone in front or beside you, you can push a little harder and you give all that you have."

While making the switch to a race twice as long as the one you are regularly trained for might be looked at as a nearly impossible task for some runners, Condell felt he would have the stamina to make the move. In fact, his experience in the 400 has been helpful to him in the 800.

"The 400 is an all out sprint, and in the last 100 meters you are just giving it all you have," Condell said. "The 800 is a little different, but I have been playing soccer all my life and I have a lot of endurance. My finishing strong in the 800 comes from running the 400 since I was just a freshman."

Condell will need all of his experience and skill when he takes on the best the state has to offer from all divisions in this weekend's All-State meet. While he knows the talent will step up another level, he is looking forward to the challenge.

"Even going to the state meet was new to me as far as the competition, but it was great to be there competing against runners like that," Condell said. "I am looking forward to seeing even better at the All-States. You know that everybody there wants to win, and you can't count anybody out. There are no sure winners, you just have to go out and give it your best."

Farnsworth throws in his two cents

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

Nick Farnsworth has become accustomed to winning. In fact, the Wilmington High junior has become so accustomed to winning in the javelin this season, that anything less than a victory for him in Saturday's MIAA Division 3 Track and Field Meet at Milton High School would have been considered a disappointment.

Facing that kind of pressure may seem daunting, but Farnsworth did not appear to let the pressure get to him as he not only won the event handily, but did so with what is believed to be a state record throw of 191-4.

And just because he is used to winning, does not mean that Farnsworth is not able to enjoy the thrill of victory.

"It was an awesome feeling," Farnsworth said of being a Division 3 state champion. "I had been looking forward to this meet, but I was also kind of worried about it to I was really pleased to win and to throw what they think is a state record."

If Farnsworth was a little worried heading into the meet, he may very well have been the only one associated with the Wilmington track program who was concerned about how well he would do. Coach Bob Cripps, for one, never doubted his star.

"We were planning on it," Cripps said of Farnsworth's victory. "His goal all year has been to hit 190-0, and this was as good a time to do it as any. The great thing for him is that he not only wins this meet, but he sets himself up great for next week's All-States."

Farnsworth will indeed be the favorite at this weekend's All-State meet, but he has become accustomed to the high expectations and has managed to deal with it very well.

"It is pressure, but before the meet, I try not to pay attention to what others are thinking," Farnsworth said. "I know I will be disappointed if I don't win, but I really try to put that feeling off until after the meet."

And generally after a meet is over, Farnsworth is not disappointed by much, as he is more than likely celebrating another victory in the javelin, or perhaps even in the discus where he performed well all season before finishing 10th in Saturday's meet.

On Saturday, Farnsworth relieved most of the pressure from the start, with an opening throw of 174-0, which would have won the meet even if he never attempted another throw. Of course, he did not know that at the time so he continued with his throws and eventually worked his way up the phenomenal throw of 191-04.

Farnsworth is planning on a similar approach in the All-State meet.

"I prepared in a new way for this meet, and I will bring the same approach to the All-States," Farnsworth said. "I did not warm up too much and on my first throw I took it a little easy so I could build up a little bit toward my best throw. If I start off slow, I can get a little frustrated, but if I know that I am just working things out and not doing my best yet, I will stay relaxed."

Who's to argue with the strategy of a state champion? But just as a reminder, Farnsworth's "easy" throw of 174-0 would have won him not only this meet, but any other Division meet as well.

As Farnsworth prepares for the All-States, he is very pleased that he will not only be the only Wildcat advancing, but he will also not even be the only Wildcat in his event, as his close friend Shawn Fahey also qualified with a throw of 170-4 that would have won him the event in any other Division.

"It's great to have my friends going with me and I am really excited to have a fellow javelin thrower with me," Farnsworth said. "It's great to have Shawn around to practice with and to go to the meet with. That will help me very much."

Baima leaps to the front

By DAN IGO
Sports Correspondent

Stephanie Baima went into Saturday's Class C State Championship not expecting to win the high jump. When she left, she not only had the win, but also a new school record.

The Wilmington High junior scored all ten of her team's points after clearing 5-5 to take the high jump title. Baima said that going into the meet, she thought one of her main rivals would get the better hand once again.

"Christina Izzicupo (of Stoneham) has consistently jumped better than me this year," Baima said. "I'm surprised I beat her."

Baima broke the school record in the high jump in winter track as well. However, she said that she got worse from the winter season to spring. She said that only recently has she been back jumping 5-2 and 5-3, like she was used to.

"I think going outside and jumping on a different surface affected me," she said. "For some reason, the bar just looked a lot higher."

Head coach Tom Bradley said that Baima has come a long way since the indoor season.

"I was delighted with her win," he said. "We were very disappointed with the way winter ended. The League meet last spring was also disappointing. Stephanie holds the school record at 5'5". It is amazing to me that she is also a very credible hurdler and our second best triple jumper. She and five others are doing the Heptathlon next week. She jumped over 14' in practicing the long jump. She works hard in the high jump and I am very happy for her."

In the winter, Baima placed sixth in the high jump. On Saturday, she defeated three girls who had beaten her in the winter meet, including Izzicupo, who had finished first in winter.

Baima played field hockey her freshman year, but gave that her sophomore year so she could train for the high jump in the fall. However, with her being the only athlete who wants to practice, it can be challenging to get the work she needs.

"It's hard to get people to help you out, especially with bringing out the mats," she said. "I haven't done weight training because the weight room is in such bad shape. Plus, I haven't had much education on weight training."

Baima's win qualified her for this Saturday's All-State meet in Holyoke. However, she will not be able to attend the meet. She will be taking her SAT's. With the college application process beginning, Baima has been looking at various science schools. She is really interested in neurology and microbiology, but is unsure of what she wants to do after she graduates. She also doesn't know if high jump is in her college plans.

"I'm not sure I want to compete (in college)," she said. "I'm worried about the time commitment. My education is going to come first when I'm at school."

Baima isn't going to sit on her laurels. Despite having a state championship and two school records under her belt, she still has high hopes for next year. "I definitely want to break (those) records again," she said. "I want to beat Christina Izzicupo again. And I want to actually be able to attend All-States."

Boys team finishes fourth at state meet

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

The Wilmington High boys track team added another chapter to their great season last weekend with an outstanding performance at the MIAA Division 3 Track and Field Meet at Milton High School on Saturday afternoon.

The Wildcats finished fourth in the 31 team field, scoring 43 points, which left them just five points short of second place Bishop Feehan's 48 points. Stoneham High School won the meet with 62 points.

"We have had a good year all around and the state meet went very well," Wilmington coach Bob Cripps said. "We could not have asked for much better. We actually held the lead for a while, but the relays caught us. Still, it was a very good showing for us."

Leading the way for the Wildcats were a pair of state champions, with junior Nick Farnsworth taking the javelin with what is believed to be a state record throw of 191-04, and fellow junior Mike Condell taking the 800 meters with a time of 1:58.86.

Senior Shawn Fahey, the defending champ in the javelin, followed his close friend Farnsworth with a second place finish in this year's event, with a throw of 170-04, which fell well short of Fahey, but still put him in some pretty exclusive company.

"If Shawn were in any other Division in the state he would have won the event with that distance," Cripps said. "He did very well. I was very please with his performance as I have been all season."

able season, taking a third place finish with a time of 11.30. To add to his great day, George also finished second in the long jump with a distance of 21-10, just two inches shy of the winning mark.

"He did very well in the 100," Cripps said. "He got out well and did a great job. He did better than some might have expected because he had just competed in the long jump which can take a lot out of you, so third place was quite good."

As for the long jump, George overcame some recent struggles to come up big in the biggest meet of the year to date.

"He had been having some problems with his approach recently, but he did things very well yesterday," Cripps said. "In the CAL's he could not hit

Wildcats end disappointing season on strong note

By JAMIE POTE

On one hand you could say it was a very disappointing season. Coming off its exciting 2006 season which saw the team win eight games in a row before advancing to the state tournament for the first time since 2002, this year's Wilmington High baseball team had many of those same big pieces to the puzzle back for this season. But the wins didn't add up.

On the flip side of the 7-13 record, one thing that really stood out with this team is they never quit. This past week was a perfect example of that. Instead of the seniors packing it in knowing they didn't qualify for the post season, they could've easily been thinking about proms, graduations and the beach. Instead the 'Cats remained businesslike and competed in three games, losing to North Andover 3-2, and falling in the first round of the Dick Scanlon Memorial Tournament to Ipswich, 11-9, before finishing the season with a 13-1 win over Melrose in the consolation game.

"It was not the season we had expected," said coach Aldo Caira. "After making the state tournament and winning the summer league season, we thought we'd do better this year and making it back to the state tournament was definitely a goal we thought would be reached. We just ran into a hitting problem. We started off 2-1 in league play and then we went into a major hitting slump. And when that was happening, we seemed to have that one bad inning and we lost a bunch of games in a row. We couldn't pull out of that tailspin."

"But on the other side of that is we ended up winning three of our last five games which I think is a nice way to finish up.

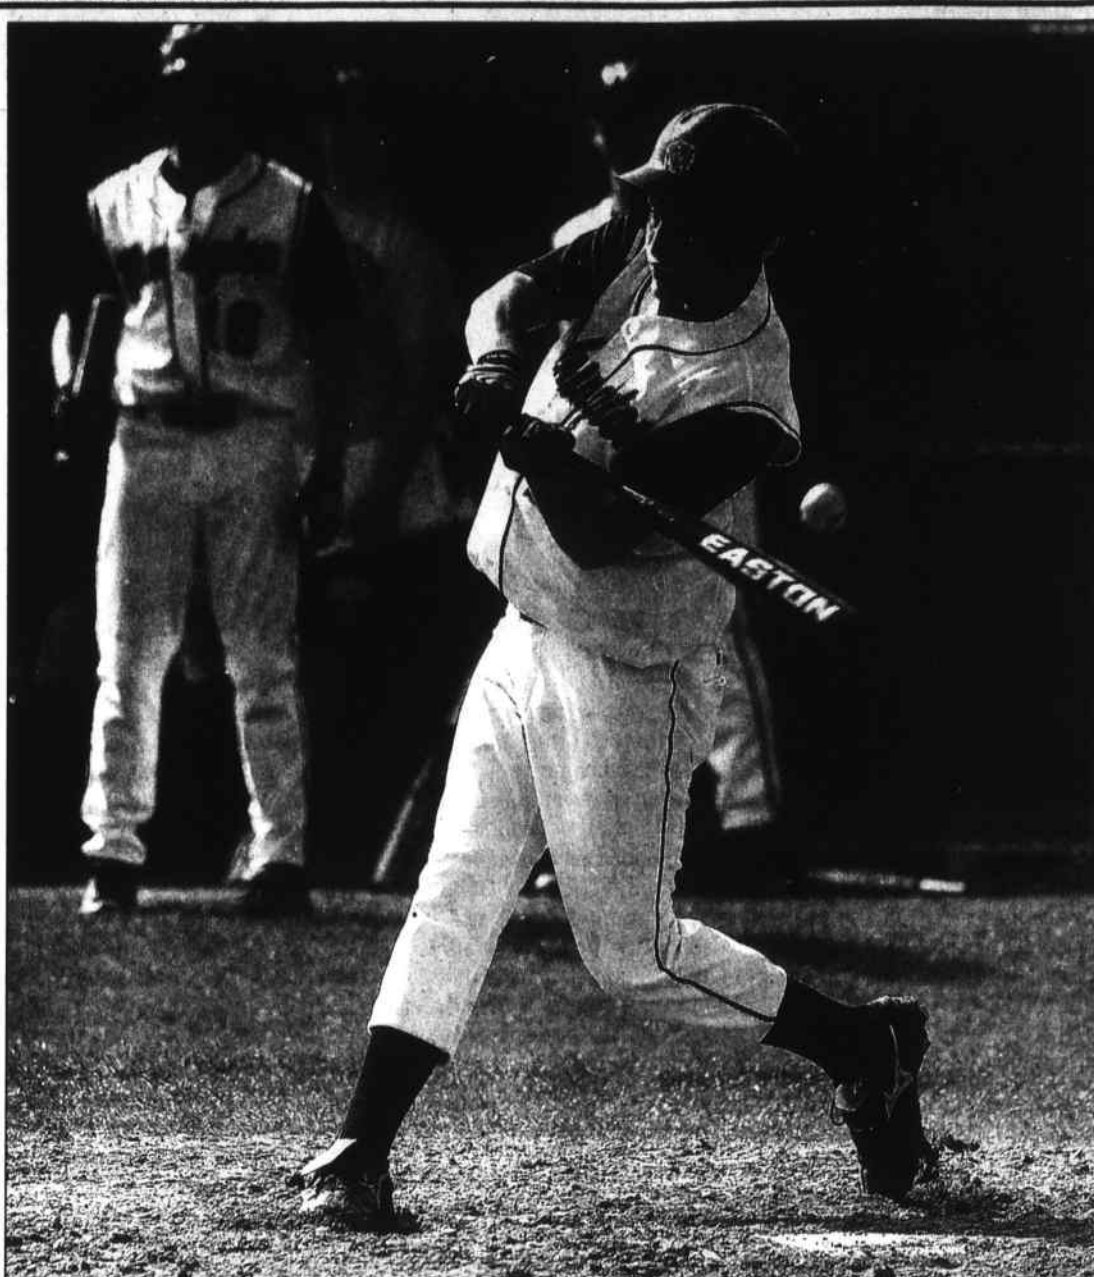

We had a couple of good performances from a few sophomores so things are looking up. We'll be looking to come back stronger next year."

Wilmington will lose seven seniors from this year's team including its only all-conference player, shortstop Josh Mayo, as well as outfielders Brendan Sheehan, Eric Legro and Greg Stewart, first baseman David Rak, catcher Shane Foley and Jared Waite, who was injured all this season.

"The seniors realized at the beginning of the season that they needed to be the leaders of this team and they tried their best to do just that," said Caira. "When we were slumping, I think they just were pressing too much. We couldn't hit and it seemed to spread through the whole team. But Eric Legro and a couple of the other guys all got going but it was just a little too late. The seniors gave it their best but I think we just dug ourselves in too big of a hole to get out of. But it certainly wasn't a lack of effort."

The week's play started with the 3-2 loss to a strong North Andover (12-5) club. Sophomore Mike Manganelli was brought up from the JV team and he went the first six innings on the mound giving up six hits on two earned runs and striking out two. Sheehan and Lentini both had two hits each to lead the offense.

Then this weekend the 'Cats competed in the annual Scanlon Memorial Tournament. Wilmington faced league rival Ipswich (5-13) in the first game and the Tigers' seven run fifth inning was the difference in the game. Offensively, Eric Siegel led the way with two home runs and 5 RBI, giving up four homers for the season. Lentini had three hits including a double and scored three times, Wilmington High junior Eric Siegel, shown here during an earlier game, cracked two home runs in this weekend's Dick Scanlon Memorial Baseball Tournament.

Comaneschi swims for UNE

Patrick Comaneschi III received the Coach's Award for the Men's Swim Team 2006-2007 season at the University of New England located in Biddeford, Maine.

After taking a two year hiatus from swimming, Patrick decided to join the University of New England's Swim team on January 2, 2007, which was more than half way through the season. Two weeks into the new year and only two qualifying swim meets left for a chance to compete at the New England Championship, Patrick qualified to swim the 100 Individual Medley, 50 Breaststroke and was placed on the Men's relay team as anchor. The New England Championship was held Feb. 16 & 17, 2007 at the University of New Hampshire. At this event the Men's relay team became finalists and set four new team records for the 200 & 400 Free Relays and the 200 & 400 Medley Relays.

Patrick swam all four years and was captain for Shawsheen Valley Technical High School. He was a three time recipient of the Commonwealth Athletic Conference Boy's All-Star (2002 - 2003, 2003-2004 and 2004-2005) and received two Most Valuable Player Trophies (2003-2004 and 2004-2005). Six local teams qualified for the state tournament including four Shawsheen Tech clubs - boys and girls lacrosse, baseball and softball - and two Tewksbury High teams including baseball and softball. No Wilmington team qualified for post season play.

The No. 7 seed Tewksbury High Baseball team drew the No. 10 seed North Andover Scarlet Knights in the first round of the Division 2 North sectional tournament to be played Thursday afternoon at Tewksbury's Strong Field beginning at 4:00 pm.

The Redmen (15-5) defeated North Andover (12-7) in the while Legro had a RBI double.

On Sunday, Wilmington wrapped up its season with a 13-1 win over Melrose (5-15) of the Middlesex League in the consolation round of the tournament. Greg Stewart led the way going 3-for-4 with 4 RBI, while, Legro and Sheehan had three hits each, Lentini had two and Dave Rak had one hit and two RBI. Brian Svensson earned the win going the distance to improve to 3-3 on the season. He gave up one earned run on four hits, while walking one and striking out one.

Wilmington returns a very strong nucleus of players for next year as the Wildcats will look for its first winning season since 2002. Almost the entire pitching staff returns with Kevin Skinner and Brian Svensson back, as well as Lentini, Steve Stewart and Manganelli giving the team a solid five to choose from. Kyle Moon, who saw time at catcher and the outfield, will most likely be the team's full-time signal caller. Two of the team's top batters, Mello and Siegel return as will infielders Kyle Lunt and Charlie Waitte, who saw a good amount of playing time.

"We'll have a few holes to fill," said Caira. "I know the JV team finished 12-4 and we had a few sophomores come up and help us and there's a few more good athletes down there who can come up and plug the holes we have."

Six local teams, none from Wilmington, make tourney first round of last week's Lawrence Invitational Tournament, 6-1. If Tewksbury defeats North Andover, it will play the winner of No. 2 seed Danvers (18-2)/No. 15 seed Winchester (10-10) sometime this weekend. Danvers defeated Tewksbury three years ago in the quarterfinal round.

The Redmen softball team was seeded sixth in the Division 2 North sectional tournament and will face the No. 11 seed Wakefield (12-6) at home also on Thursday afternoon beginning at 3:30 pm. The Redmen won their first three state tournament games last year beating Stoneham, Triton and North Andover before falling to Concord-Carlisle in the sectional final. Should the Redmen knock off Wakefield, the quarterfinal match-up will be against the winner of Amesbury (17-3) and Swampscott (10-9) most likely on Monday or Tuesday.

The Shawsheen Tech baseball team finished 12-8 overall and were seeded 13th in the Division 3 North sectional tournament. The Rams will host the No. 20 seed Newburyport (10-10) on Thursday at 4:00 pm. Should the Rams win that first round match-up, they'll travel to North Reading most likely on Saturday.

The Shawsheen Tech softball team finished 18-2 overall and drew the No. 2 seed. The Rams drew a bye in the preliminary round and will face the winner of Madison Park (9-9) and Weston (11-9) in the first round of the Division 3 North sectional tournament with the day and time yet to be announced. Should the Rams win that first round-up match-up, they'll take on the winner of Lowell Catholic (13-7) and North Reading (15-5) in the quarterfinals, also yet to be announced.

As this paper was being printed, both Shawsheen Tech lacrosse teams were in action. The boys team had to travel to Sandwich and the girls traveled to Marblehead with a 5:00 pm start.

1994 Merrimack College team

O'Connell, softball team, to be inducted

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

Being a Hall of Fame inductee is nothing new to Wilmington's Judy O'Connell. The 1991 graduate of Wilmington High was elected to the Wildcats Hall of Fame in 2001 after a stellar career at the high school where she starred in softball, field hockey and basketball, and she followed that up with an equally stellar career at Merrimack College where as a catcher with the softball team she helped lead the Warriors to the Division 2 national Championship in 1994.

It is for that accomplishment that O'Connell will once again be honored as a Hall of Fame inductee, as she joins the rest of her Warrior teammates in being inducted into the Northeast-10 Conference Hall of Fame on June 4 at the Colonnade Hotel in recognition of the team's amazing run to the title in 1994.

O'Connell played a pivotal role on the championship team, serving as team captain throughout the season and saving some of her best play for the post season, where she was elected to both the All-Tournament team and the All-Regional team after an outstanding performance which saw her bat .500 by going 15-for-30, with three home runs, and one of the homers was a grand slam in the Warriors semi-final victory over Nebraska-Omaha.

She also had a pair of hits against Humboldt State in the Warriors 6-2 victory in the national championship game. Because of that victory, which made the Warriors the first ever Northeast-10 School to win a Division 2 national championship, the 16 members of the team will also be the first team ever inducted thought of by anybody else, but it was something where we just felt like we had this magic working for us," O'Connell said. "It seemed like every play that we would practice with the hopes of using one time per season, would work for us. Our pinch hitters and pinch runners were coming through. From top to bottom everybody was playing a part."

And O'Connell was a big part of it, including one very special memory from the semi-final game where she hit a grand slam as part of the Warriors victory and was unexpectedly able to share the blast with her mother back at home.

"My father made the trip with me, but my mother could not be there," O'Connell said. "She called the press box to check on the score at the exact moment I was rounding third base. She told the guy in the press box, my daughter is number 14 and he could not believe it."

"After he told her what was happening, she got on a red eye with my grandfather, my sister and my fiancé in order to be there for the final game the next day," O'Connell said. "They came with sings, saying 'We love you Judy'. To have them show up on that last day is something that I will never forget."

As a catcher and team captain for the Warriors that year, O'Connell was obviously relied upon heavily for her leadership ability and she took a great deal of pride in that role, particularly when she returned from a head injury late in the season.

"I had been basically knocked out with the head injury and missed about a week of the season," O'Connell said. "I came back with two or three games left in the season, so the Regionals and the College World Series were like a second season to me. It was great to be able to come back and call a game again as catcher."

"It was nice to be captain as just a junior," O'Connell added. "In the history of the program I think I am the only junior who has been a captain, so that is very flattering from a coaching standpoint."

Her leadership skills still appear to be very obvious as she was recently elected to the Wilmington School Committee. She is also the customer sales support specialist at Agilent Technologies.

When next Monday rolls around, O'Connell will certainly be honored to be a Hall of Fame inductee, but as much as she is looking forward to the honor, she is equally looking forward to the ceremony itself.

"I can't wait to go and to see all of the families of people I went to school with," O'Connell said. "Of course my best friends I still keep in touch with, but it will be exciting to see their parents who I have not seen in a long time. It should make the whole night extra special."

much, but he bounced back well. That's a difficult thing to do and he did a good job of it."

Junior Nate Clarkin capped off the scoring for the Wildcats with a sixth place finish in the shot put, with a season best throw of 47-01.75.

"It was his best throw of the year by two feet," Cripps said. "He came up big for us in the CAL's as well. I am very happy for him."

In the CAL meet to which Cripps referred, the Wildcats had another exceptional day, finishing second overall with a total of 81 points, trailing only meet champion Triton in the final standings. The Wildcats were actually in position to win the meet, if not for a little bad luck.

"We had a mishap in the 4x100," Cripps said. "One of our runners took off just a little early and the kid running could not catch him in time to hand off to him so we were disqualified. We were in the lead at the time, so we may have won and if we won that we may have won the meet."

That event did not go well for the Wildcats but there were several others that did go very well, including the javelin where the team too first, second and fourth place. Farnsworth once again finished on top with a throw of 176.7, followed by Fahey's 171.7 and Tom Barry took fourth with a throw of 153.0.

Farnsworth also added a third place finish in the discus, while George took second in the 100 meters with a time of 11.1, while Eric Russo finished second in the 200 with a time of 23.2.

Other place finishers for the Wildcats included a third place finish for Barry in the 300 meter hurdles, a fourth place finish by Matt Figueirido in the 100 meters and a sixth place finish for Nick Jannone in the 200 meters.

WHS Girls Track

Stephanie Baima scored all ten points for the girls team during Saturday's Class C State Meet held at Milton High. She won the high jump clearing 5-foot-5 which is a school record. Several of Baima's teammates just missed out on placing as Erin Conway finished seventh in the javelin throwing 100 feet, 3 inches, and Kim Silvia finished eighth in the 300 hurdles.

During last week's CAL Meet, Baima finished second in the high jump (5-2), Carmen Palumbo was second in the hurdles (16.9) followed by Kayla Hanson who was fifth. Conway was third in the javelin (100-2), Silvia was fourth in the 300 hurdles and Kayla Hanson and Natalie Russo were fifth in the hurdles and two mile, respectively.

"We beat three teams in the League meet that we lost to during the season," said head coach Tom Bradley. "We really improved a lot in the last month. We lose a few very good seniors but I think we will be greatly improved next year. I feel bad that Carmen (Palumbo who) had a foot injury at the end. She was undefeated during the season and was disappointed to finish second in the League."

Jamie Pote contributed to this report into the Northeast-10 Hall of Fame.

"Going in as a team is a great honor and I was even more honored to have been a captain of that team," O'Connell said. "That season as a whole just had a magical feel to it. We went 45-4 and won both the regular season league title and the league tournament, and then of course we went on to the NCAA Regionals and then the College World Series."

Even at the College World Series, which was played that year in Shawnee, Kansas, Merrimack received little recognition, being seeded fifth out of the six teams in the field. But they were undaunted by the low expectations, believing in themselves and rolling through the tournament, outscoring their four opponents by a margin of 21-6.

The Shawsheen Tech Baseball team opens with Newburyport when the Division 3 North sectional tournament begins on Thursday afternoon.

(JoeBrownphotos.com)

Rams gearing up for playoff run

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

The Shawsheen Tech baseball team will begin play in the Division 3 North Tournament on Thursday afternoon with a home game against Newburyport of the Cape Ann League. The Rams, who finished with a 12-9 overall record are the 13th seed and will be hosting the 20th seeded Clippers who will bring a 10-10 mark into the tournament.

Shawsheen comes into the game having dropped four straight games, with three of the losses coming by just one run, including non-league losses to Wilmington and Bishop Fenwick. Despite the losing streak, Shawsheen coach Kevin Bloom feels his team is playing pretty well going into the tournament, although the results have now shown up in the win column.

"We go in knowing we could play a little better, but also knowing that we are capable of it," Bloom said. "It's been a little frustrating that we have not been able to get on a roll since the start of the season, and the one run losses to Wilmington and to Fenwick kind of typified how the second half of the year has gone for us."

While Bloom does not know a lot about Newburyport, he knows enough about them to know his team will be in for a challenge on Thursday.

"I know they are out of the CAL Upper Division and that they play a very competitive schedule," Bloom said. "We will of course try and gather as much information as we can over the next couple of days, but I know we will certainly have to limit our mistakes if we are going to stay in the game."

While the Rams would have loved to win a couple more games to improve their seeding, Bloom is happy that his team received a home game in the opening game, albeit in the preliminary round.

"With Division 3 North there are 22 teams and seeds six through 14 are all within two games of each other," Bloom said. "It would have been nice to win a couple more and be a higher seed, but it will still be nice for us to have some home cooking."

The past few years the Rams have seemed to draw a team in the first round that went on to have great success in the tournament, including last season when a lower seeded Chelsea team beat the Rams in the first round and then advanced to the district finals.

"We seem to always run into Cinderella at this time of year," Bloom said. "It just goes to show that a lot of who wins comes down to who is playing better come tournament time."

The Rams have actually already played one tournament game, falling to CAC rival Greater Lowell in the opening round of the State Vocational Tournament on Monday afternoon. The Rams fell by a score of 4-3, fighting back from a 4-1 deficit and putting the tying run on the base in the seventh inning, but they could not get the equalizer.

Steve McIsaac of Wilmington hit a long home run and a double and Anthony Miano of Tewksbury had three hits on the day, including a double.

The Rams placed two players on the All League team for the CAC, with senior second baseman Mike Oliveira of Tewksbury and junior shortstop Tom Joyce of Tewksbury making the team.

The Sports Mind gets cleaned out

By LOUIE CIMAGLIA
Sports Correspondent

It's been a while since we cleaned out the sports desk of the mind. There's quite a bit of clutter these days, what with all of the things going on in the sports world.

First off, a sincere apology to any Celtics' fans left out there. They have the number five pick in the NBA Draft, meaning they will not be getting OSU star Greg Oden or Texas phenom Kevin Durant. Watching Tommy Heinsohn nearly vomit at the unveiling of the Celtics' draft status was truly hard to watch.

How about the BoSox? Thirteen and a half games up on New York. Yes, it's early. Yes, many experts see a closing of the gap. Now, I'm no expert, but consider this: the Yankees aren't getting any younger. And right now, A-Rod is leading the league in home runs and has 44 RBIs. Jeter is batting .355. Posada leads the league in batting average. Pettitte has one of the lowest ERA's in the AL.

People say the Yankee's big players aren't producing. The stats show something different. Those four aforementioned players are playing well, and the Yankees can't buy a win. And they are trying very hard to buy one.

Boston is gaining steam. Josh Beckett is pitching again. Kevin Youkilis is playing like a man possessed. Manny Ramirez is getting hot. The return of Jon Lester is on the horizon. Look out.

Staying in the baseball vein, the ongoing saga that is Barry Bonds continues. He is very close to Hank Aaron's all time home run record now. Commish Bud Selig still can't decide if he will appear at Bonds' record breaking game. Now Bonds is saying he won't give some of his equipment from the presumed game to the Hall of Fame.

I am the last person on Earth who would defend Barry Bonds. But, I'm going to have to defend Barry Bonds. Sure he's being a jerk here. But why should he care? Major League Baseball has hung him out to dry. Why should he give anything back? He is the poster child for everything that is wrong with sport. And although much of that is his fault, he was certainly thrown under the proverbial bus by his league.

If you are a sporting news aficionado, you have probably seen the trainwreck that has become of Michael Vick's life. He is currently amidst an ugly dogfighting scandal, which comes after his marijuana smuggling on a plane, which comes after his using a fake name in Mexico, and so on. New commish Roger Goodell has proven he won't take any guff from anybody. He has already slammed the hammer down on Pacman Jones, suspending him for the year for numerous legal violations. Goodell realizes that the only way the uber-successful NFL can fail is if it rots from the inside. He is keeping the integrity of the game.

Duck and cover here are some rapid fire thoughts. Andy Roddick lost in the first round of the French Open. He is tennis version of Phil Mickelson ... Danica Patrick finished eighth at the Indy 500. She's probably regretting not moving to NASCAR now ... Ultimate Fighting is the new boxing. George Foreman recently claimed he was drugged when he lost to Muhammed Ali in their 1974 bout in Zairea. George deserves some applause for the impeccable timing of this revelation ... Rumor has it that the Stanley Cup Finals are in progress ... A Jazz-Cavaliers NBA final would be a fantastic series ... Get ready for a Spurs-Pistons Final.

On a serious note, thanks to all of the veterans and current servicemen and women in the United States Military. Hopefully everyone enjoyed their Memorial Day, but remembered the reason they had the day off.

Second grade girls soccer team enjoys tournament

Thirteen families from Wilmington spent their Memorial Day Weekend traveling back and forth to Danvers to experience playing soccer against other Massachusetts towns, instead of each other. Some of the 8 year-olds on the Wilmington team (which donned navy blue shirts to represent their school colors) knew each other from school or meeting up against each other on Saturday's at the Shawsheen fields (part of Wilmington Youth Soccer's intown program), but there were plenty of introductions during their first and only practice preceding the tournament.

The tournament is in its 16th year and gets high marks from the Wilmington families for its organization, field conditions, and overall success. The girls played in the tournament's Friendship Division, which is non-competitive and focuses only on exposing the teams to other towns and giving them an opportunity to learn and play. The tournament encourages good sportsmanship by awarding a player from each team a Good Sportsmanship award for every game. Wilmington's Good Sports were: Allison Daniliuk, Heather Niemiec, Jayne Wierzbicki and Caitlin Gilgun.

The last game for Wilmington was on Sunday, and it was a nail biter. Playing against a Danvers United team of second graders who have been together for three seasons (including indoor), Wilmington had its work cut out for itself. In the final analysis, Danvers prevailed 1-0, but Wilmington's girls and their families left the field charged with confidence, excitement and energy.

The coaches explain that they originally put the team together to provide their daughter (who was the only 1st grader on the team) an opportunity to play with some of her second grade friends. It evolved into a mini-camp opportunity whereby the excitement of the venue seemed to focus the girls extremely well.

In the end, the girls also took away something else new and special: patches and participation awards. Each girl received a patch from the towns they played, as well as a Wilmington patch, a tournament patch and a recognition trophy. The experience is one that the coaches will try to continue and encourage others to try as well.

Junior Varsity boys lacrosse team finishes with eight wins

By JENNIFER PETIGNE
Sports Correspondent

At Wilmington High School, another school year is beginning to wrap up. Seniors have departed, kids await final exams, and spring sports teams bid farewell to successful seasons. The boy's lacrosse team has a bit of a different goodbye, as Coach Lewis and his squad prepare to say adieu to their final season playing at the JV lacrosse level. While the lacrosse team has experienced a great deal of accomplishment at the JV level, it is unknown as to whether the team will achieve a similar record at the more competitive varsity level.

Thus far in the season, the boy's team is sitting on a record of 8-1-2. Coach Chris Lewis has noticed improvement over the course of the season in many areas, ranging from defense to offense.

"Certain players have improved a lot over the course of the season," said Lewis. "We changed up our defense from last year and they're starting to play that pretty well too, as well as the offense. They've adapted pretty well."

There are many skills that still require improvement, mentions Lewis.

"You can never work enough on stick skills, just being able to pass and catch the ball," said Lewis. "Learning how to pass and shoot while running is important as well."

Among individual stand-out players are Dan Silva, Matt Derian, Sean Tavares, and Mike Lafarello.

"Dan Silva has probably been our steadiest defender," said Lewis. Silva should also be heavily considered as Most Valuable Player, according to Lewis. "Matt Derian and Sean Tavares are consistent on offense. Mike Lafarello has scored a bunch too."

A team, however, does not succeed based solely on individual performances. The entire team has contributed to many impressive games.

"We just played against a team from Nashoba," mentions Lewis. "They're just like us. We played to a 3-3 tie. It was the first time they had to play against kids who are as fast and as strong as them."

In addition to the team from Nashoba, the boy's lacrosse team played well against North Andover, an annual power in the Cape Ann League. "We lost 7-4," says Lewis. "We gave up three goals quickly, but from then it was neck and neck."

Lewis' squad also beat Masco by a score of 8-4. "We pretty much beat everyone else by a lot," adds Lewis, laughing.

Coach Lewis is looking forward to competing at the Varsity level next year. "We finally get to be varsity and see whether these teams are any good," says Lewis. "Not only are the teams bigger and stronger, but they are full of better lacrosse players."

Now with two years under his belt, Lewis has a positive outlook for next year's season. "The Cape Ann League is one of the toughest leagues in the state," said Lewis. "It's going to be a tough league but I think we'll do pretty well."

The Wilmington Girls U12B team won the Danvers Soccer Championship this past weekend. The team includes: First Row Emily Colosimo, Delaney Gillis, Taylor Fletcher, Anna Siegel, Brittany Cavanaugh. Hope, Remembrance, Funding research

Relay For Life

By DOUG WOOD-BOYLE

The American Cancer Society's Relay For Life events are much more than just a fundraiser for research into the cure for cancer. It is also a symbol of hope for the many Americans suffering with the disease; those that have battled it and won and a remembrance for those that fought the good fight and did not win.

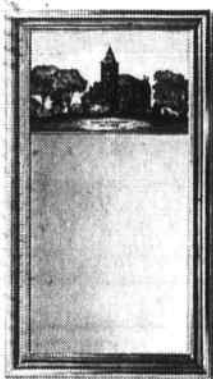

As Kate Welch, Community Executive Development for the Society explained, there is a reason why the event is not just a walk like so many others. It is a walking marathon that goes on for 19 hours and over the next three weeks it will be held in North Reading (North Reading High School, 189 Park Street) this Friday night into Saturday from 6 p.m. to 12 p.m.; Woburn (Library Park Field) June 9 and 10 from 3 p.m. to 9 a.m.; and Wakefield, (Wakefield Memorial High School Track, 24 Hemlock Road) June 15 and 16 from 6 p.m. to 11 a.m.

This is the first year for Woburn and the eighth year for Wakefield. Burlington held the Relay on May 4 and 5 and over $24,000 was raised. "It is to symbolize that cancer never sleeps," Welch said. "We encourage one member from every team to be on the track at all times."

THE RELAY FOR LIFE IS A 19 HOUR WALKING MARATHON that symbolizes the fact that "cancer never sleeps". The local walks have entertainment planned, including Locks For Love, where participants are able to donate locks of their hair for the purpose of wig-making.

"Additionally, the Relay For Life of North Reading is looking for in-kind donations of food such as pizza, breakfast items and water. There will be entertainment and fun all night long and the public is invited to attend."

For more information on the North Reading event contact Maura Sullivan at maura44@comcast.net or call Holland at (781) 314-2643. Information for all of the events can be found at www.relayforlife.org (go to event search and type in your zip code.)

Because the events run all night long, whether they start at 3 p.m. such as Woburn or 6 p.m. such as North Reading and Wakefield, the areas surrounding the tracks become colorful tent cities. The team members not on the track can go back to their campsite and rest for an hour or two, depending on the number of team members, and then start their treks again.

As with the North Reading event, all of the Walks have entertainment planned for the first night, as well as for the following day. These events include games and entertainment for the kids.

"Pirates of the Caribbean"

THIS PHOTO RELEASED BY DISNEY ENTERPRISES SHOWS ACTORS JOHNNY DEPP, left, as Jack Sparrow and Orlando Bloom in a scene from "Pirates of Caribbean: At World's End." "Pirates of the Caribbean: At World's End" hauled in $142.1 million to commandeer the record for best Memorial Day weekend debut, capping a huge month that puts Hollywood on track for record summer business. (AP Photo/Disney Enterprises, Stephen Vaughan)

"PIRATES OF THE CARIBBEAN: AT WORLD'S END" GRADE: ***

Most sequels are simply more of the same, and none does it better than "Pirates of the Caribbean: At World's End."

The film is nothing more than a continuation of the second film, last summer's "Dead Man's Chest," and that's all right (to amplify the feeling of dejavu, see this one in the same theater you saw Pirates 2, even try to find the same seats). The films had overlapping production schedules, and "World's End" supplies the finale that "Chest" withheld.

For those who don't remember, we last saw Johnny Depp's Captain Jack Sparrow leaping into the maw of a giant squid sent by Davy Jones (Bill Nighy).

In "Chest's" final scene, Jack's friends Will Turner (Orlando Bloom) and Elizabeth Swann (Keira Knightley) resolve to rescue him from Davy Jones' locker with the surprising intervention of Captain Barbossa (Geoffrey Rush). Surprising because Jack killed Barbossa at the end of the first film.

Tia Dalma (Naomie Harris), the voodoo priestess introduced in the second film, has a hidden agenda (hidden agendas are significant in this series) that will fail if Jack and Barbossa remain dead. So she resurrected Barbossa and instigates the quest to rescue Jack that takes up the first hour of the nearly three-hour "World's End."

Elizabeth and Barbossa seek an audience with Singapore's pirate lord, Sao Feng (Chow Yun Fat), in his hidden lair. The first major action sequence breaks out and the crew escapes with their prize, Sao Feng's charts to Davy Jones' locker. After several hallucinatory episodes, Jack is rescued.

And so begins the next plotline: the East India Trading Co. led by Lord Cutler Beckett (Tom Hollander), whose plan is to rid the world of pirates. At the end of the second film Cutler Beckett received Davy Jones' heart, which gave him control over Jones and, by extension, Jones' fearsome ghost ship, the Flying Dutchman. Cutler Beckett has ordered Jones to blow every pirate ship out of the water.

To combat this threat,

-This weekend Bone marrow drive for 10-year-old girl June 2

KATIE O'NEILL, age 10, and her puppy, Ella, a Lab/Golden Retriever mix, bonded instantly. The puppy was a new edition to the O'Neill clan to celebrate the end of Katie's first bone marrow transplant. A new bone marrow drive is scheduled for June 2 to benefit Katie. See story elsewhere on this page for complete details of the event.

BY MAUREEN G. DOHERTY

The family of 10-year-old Katie O'Neill is appealing to the public to participate in a bone marrow transplant/stem cell drive on Saturday, June 2 at the Batchelder School, 175 Park St., North Reading. It is being held in the gym from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The Batchelder School fifth-grader has bravely battled "PNET" otherwise known as Primitive Neurological Ectodermal Tumor, a type of childhood brain tumor, for more than three years.

She's had an especially rough road for the past year leading up to her first bone marrow transplant in September 2006 at Boston's Floating Hospital for Children. After the transplant, she spent four weeks in isolation. In the months that followed, she has endured more radiation and chemotherapy. She attends school whenever she is able and keeps up with her studies with the help of a tutor.

Katie is the daughter of Bill and Karen O'Neill of North Reading and the big sister of Liam, 7, and Bridget, 5. The O'Neills recently learned that their eldest child will need another bone marrow/stem cell transplant. Everyone in her family was tested, but no related donors were matches, therefore, they must appeal to the public for help.

The drive is being organized on short notice prior to summer vacation because the need is urgent. Batchelder School nurse Christine Mancini and school secretary Sandy Romanowicz are coordinating the drive.

Bring health insurance card
There is no charge in Massachusetts to be type-tested; however, participants must bring their health insurance card with them.

Participation in the drive involves a simple, non-invasive cheek swab. No blood will be drawn. The event is being run by the National Marrow Donor Program and volunteers from the school. To join its registry, potential donors must be between ages 18-60, be in general good health, fill out a medical history form, and be willing to donate to anyone in need.

Need only be tested once
It is important to note that once an individual has been included in any marrow registry, their data will remain in that database until they reach age 61. Therefore, there is no need to be type-tested again.

Physicians nationwide have access to every registry database available to conduct tissue-type match searches for their patients. Even if the participants in this drive are not matched with Katie they may one day help another patient by their inclusion in the registry database.

Donate blood, platelets
Dealing with their daughter's illness has also driven home to the O'Neills the importance of donating blood products - especially platelets - due to the vast amount of blood that cancer patients go through.

On the website they run to keep family and friends up-to-date on Katie's day-to-day progress, they explain that platelets are in short supply even though they can be donated every two weeks, unlike whole blood.

While the process of sifting the platelets out and returning the red cells back to the donor is a little more time-consuming than whole blood donation, the platelets are essential for timely treatments for patients, the O'Neills state in their log.

"Kids in treatment are having to delay necessary surgery due to shortages. The hospital staff has been donating lately to keep treatment going," Karen wrote during one of their long stays at the hospital earlier this year. To donate platelets, donors must go directly to a donor center rather than a local blood drive.

Katie's website is www.battle-march.com/katie.html. Her site also has links to the National Marrow Donor Program and the American Red Cross to help potential donors learn more about either procedure.

For more information or to sign up, contact Batchelder School nurse Christine Mancini at (978) 664-7814 ext. 1125 or 800-676-4545 ext. 19. To learn more about marrow donation, go to www.marrow.org.

Volunteers from the school will provide refreshments during the drive, which is being held immediately after the overnight Relay for Life to benefit the American Cancer Society at the NRHS track on June 1-2. Photo caption (photo being sent via email separately):

RADIO WAVES, THEATER PEOPLE AND FILMSTAR

by Phyllis Nissen

Going digital in Wakefield

"The Wakefield Police Department has started the process of completely revamping their current radio communication system which must use digital signal radios by 2011 as the result of a Federal Communication Commission (FCC) requirement," notes the Wakefield edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"The switch to digital radio signals will affect not only police and fire departments, but also private companies, such as trucking and hauling businesses.

"It's the crowded airwaves that have spurred the establishment of these new requirements on the part of the FCC.

"The digital radios create and emit a narrower, more compact signal, allowing for the placement of more users in a particular area," explained Wakefield Police Officer Scott Mitchell, who is the WPD's in-house radio expert. "With the digital signals in use, different frequencies can be placed very close to each other without interference."

"Officer Mitchell, who describes himself as an 'amateur radio operator,' is overseeing the department's switch to the new digital radio system. He's been managing the WPD's radios since 1991.

"Currently, there is a great deal of wasted space on the airwaves. 'Take a radio tuner, for example. When you approach a radio station's frequency, you'll begin to hear the radio station's transmissions before you reach the actual frequency - it gets clearer and clearer and then gradually fades out in the same way. This is wasted space before and after the radio station's frequency and in some instances, two radio stations will interfere. With digital radio system, the signal is narrower and you don't have that wasted space leading up to and following the frequency,' Officer Mitchell explained.

"And while the switch to digital radios will have an overall positive effect, there is one major problem: nearly all of the radio equipment that's currently in use will become obsolete and essentially useless.

"The portable radios that we [police officers] carry will no longer be usable," Officer Mitchell said, adding, "Fortunately, the new radio units will be about half the size, so that's less weight for the officer to carry around."

"But the increased clarity and efficiency comes at a cost - it will cost the WPD approximately $250,000 to replace their radio system...."

Sure not stranded in Woburn

"A public hearing to upgrade an entire block of stores on the easterly side of Main Street in downtown Woburn between Campbell Street and Union Street is underway," notes the Woburn edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"In a public hearing recently, the Woburn Redevelopment Authority, along with property owner Edward Hovsepian unveiled plans to put a whole new facade on the historic 'Old Strand Theater' block.

"The process of applying for state grant money, said Woburn Redevelopment Authority officials, will take some time. However, the object at this point, noted Executive Director Donald Borchelt, is to have the public hearings and paperwork out of the way and ready to go.

"Estimated cost of the project is $300,000.

"Technically, the project is a Mass. Community Development Block Grant Program from the Community Development Fund.

"The funding for the program, said WRA officials, was hurt by cutbacks in FY2006 by the Romney administration. The direction of new Gov. Deval Patrick, they say, is not entirely clear.

"However, WRA officials point to the recent success downtown with the Pilgrim Building and are well known in Boston for successful projects. A facade for 379 Main Street at the Sushi Café was another example.

DEFICIT SAVING IN WOBURN

Deficit saving in Woburn

"The city's School Committee recently enacted a new policy that will shut off WMHS students' meal and lunch accounts when they have run a $25 deficit," notes the Woburn edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"According to School Business Manager Joseph Elia, he noticed that some high school pupils had charged their accounts into the red."

"Although the number of students in such situations was limited, with most accounts having run no higher than a $10 deficit, school officials advocated for setting a clear procedure for negative balances before the trend got out-of-control."

"After a meeting of the educational board's finance subcommittee addressed the issue, Elia and School Committee member Dr. John Wells suggested that a vote be taken to formally create a shut-off threshold at $25."

"What we felt was appropriate was that once a student is $10 in arrears, we send a letter to [his/her] parent. And then if it gets to $25, the account will be shut down," Wells suggested.

"That still gives a child 10 days or 10 lunches [once the account is shut-off]," added Elia, attempting to allay concerns about a pupil being denied lunch the moment a $25 deficit is racked up.

"According to the two school officials, the new procedure would serve the best interests of all parties, as parents would know of such negative balances before it got out-of-hand, and administrators wouldn't have to worry about any large deficits in the lunch program...."

Actual spending approved in Burlington

"With three unanimous votes recently, the School Committee approved a separate integrated pre-school program to go into effect for the 2007-2008 school year," notes the Burlington edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"It means Burlington would have its own such program for special needs students, while maintaining ties with the LABBB Collaborative (in addition to Burlington, Lexington, Arlington, Bedford and Billerica are involved)."

"The program would be paid through the town side of the budget."

"A key reason for the town having its own program, according to Director of Pupil Services Dr. Cathleen Estep, is increasing enrollment among Burlington students. The total has doubled to 56 in the past four years, she said, and it could continue to rise."

"With the new setup, Burlington would no longer send all of its special education students to LABBB; the town would re-capture the four classrooms that are currently used by LABBB at the high school."

"The Burlington pre-school and the LABBB preschool classes would share the existing space, Estep said.

"We have moved forward with registration and received many calls from parents," Estep told the School Committee.

"We have had meetings with staff and we are in the process of moving forward," said School Supt. Katie Spinos.

"The superintendent added that 'the selectmen must vote the program,' and that 'it would be brought to the selectmen's attention.'"

"It would be a challenge to absorb this (cost) in coming years," Spinos went on to say.

"The three following School Committee votes were taken: to approve the establishment of an integrated pre-school program; authorization of financial accounts within the town's accommodated accounts for the next three years, with regular reviews conducted jointly by the schools and the town; adoption of tuition rates for integrated pre-schoolers for FY08...."

Great representation praised in Wilmington, Tewksbury, and more

Relay from S-1

Love. A team of 12 stylists from Nicole's Hair Salon will be on hand to cut the hair off the heads of people wishing to donate the locks for the purpose of making wigs.

According to Welch, hair is cut in 10 inch units. It is then bagged and sent to the wig-makers to make wigs for those that have lost their hair during the chemo-therapy sessions.

Wakefield has the added attraction of being broadcast live on the public program channels on WCAT. The local access media center has its studio adjacent to the track area and has been covering the event since the Relay started right after WCAT opened its doors in the rear of the High School eight years ago.

However, one of the most moving moments in the event comes at sundown with the Luminaria. At this point bags of sand containing candles are placed on the ground and the candles are then lit adding a backlight to the names of those to be remembered on the bag.

The following piece from the website describes the Luminaria; "When the sun goes down, hundreds of luminarias light the way under the stars and a moment of silence falls during the ceremony of hope. 'Luminarias are glowing bags that on first glance appear to be nothing more than paper sacks filled with sand and candles. But upon closer examination, these bags represent people, each with a name and a story to tell.

"The ceremony of hope is one of the most special and moving events in the entire Relay For Life™. Everyone gathers around to remember those lost to cancer, support those fighting cancer, and rejoice with those who have fought the disease and won. Luminarias are available for a contribution to the American Cancer Society."

As one Wakefield event coordinator put it, "The luminaria ceremony is the most significant. In Wakefield the names are alphabetized and shown on a Power Point presentation."

She added, "The atmosphere of the night is unexplainable. Coming down here and seeing the tents and people in white shirts or purple shirts is kind of mystical."

Welch added, "It is very emotional."

The American Cancer Society asks that each person raise $100 to register for the event. However, cancer survivors do not have to be members of a team to participate in the Survivor's Lap of the Survivor's Dinner.

According to the website, "Relay For Life® is a fun-filled overnight event designed to bring together those who have been touched by cancer in our community. More than 200 Relays will be held throughout New England in 2007, all celebrating survivorship and raising money to help the American Cancer Society in its mission to save lives, help those who have been touched by cancer, and empower individuals to fight back. During the event, teams of people gather at schools, fairgrounds, or parks and take turns walking or running laps. Each team tries to keep at least one team member on the track at all times.

"But, Relay is much more than a walk around a track. It is a time to remember those lost to cancer and celebrate those who have survived. It is a night for people who have shared the same experience to comfort and console one another. During this event, we honor survivors during the Survivor's Lap and we remember those we lost to cancer during the luminaria ceremony. We also celebrate life, friendship, and a chance to work together toward a cancer-free future."

DIY Checklist

Before you enthusiastically dive into your next DIY project, it's important to consider the following factors before getting down and dirty:

- Time: Most of us are pressed for time as it is, so adding more to our plates might not be the best approach to take. Consider your schedule and how long the project might take. Don't think it will take you the same amount of time it takes a pro to finish the job.
- Skill: A lot of do-it-yourselfers enjoy getting their hands dirty for a number of reasons, not the least of which is cost. A successful DIY project will cost less than hiring a contractor. However, if your skill level isn't up to the task, you'll end up spending significantly more money (not to mention time) in the long run.
- Money: While a successful DIY project will save you money, much of those savings are rooted in the free labor (in this case, your own). Materials can be costly. Establish a budget before you begin the project and stick to it. A good money-saving tip is to approach a project in pieces. For example, if you're re-doing a bathroom, handle the sink or shower or toilet first, and finish the project piecemeal from there on out.

A garden shed or home office?

Imagine sealing a deal in Boston while wearing pajamas in a 'garden shed' in California. It's not that strange. Telecommuting has come of age. Offices are getting smaller as people are seeing the sense in working from home.

Consider Nancy, part of a growing trend of people with an office on their property but not in the house. She does most of her work by phone and online, so her location in California is inconsequential to her clients. Still, location meant a lot to her.

Walking 10 feet from her house to her office allows Nancy to forget the dishes cluttering the sink and any unwashed laundry. Voila! The switch from home to office is complete.

She and her husband ordered a customized Urban Studio kit from Summerwood Products which they assembled themselves. Summerwood creates many structures: gazebos, pool houses, garages, cabins, spa enclosures, playhouses and of course urban studios. Most have multiple uses, appearing in several categories. In fact, Nancy's Sonoma is listed under 'garden sheds' on Summerwood.com but that description sells it short. It's beautiful, constructed from rich cedar and customized with plenty of hinged windows and a glass door.

How? The site's Custom Design Center features simple and fun software, giving laypeople an architect's skills so they can add their own personal touches. Nancy loves the natural light and breezes on pleasant days - leading to greater productivity.

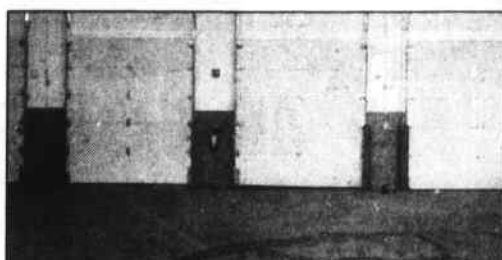

Summerwood's designs come in easy-to-assemble kits, delivered to your driveway. Those less in touch with their inner handyman are completely supported with online how-to videos, regular 9 to 5 live phone assistance - and an online ask an expert section for finding quick answers.

Middlesex East Real Estate

The #1 source for buyers and sellers of homes in the 10 Town area • 781-944-2200

The Heartison's exterior has an intriguing European ranch flavor, while its interior is very much in tune with the preferences of contemporary American families, such as clipped gables, arched and shuttered windows, ornamental coach lights, and graceful cast iron balcony.

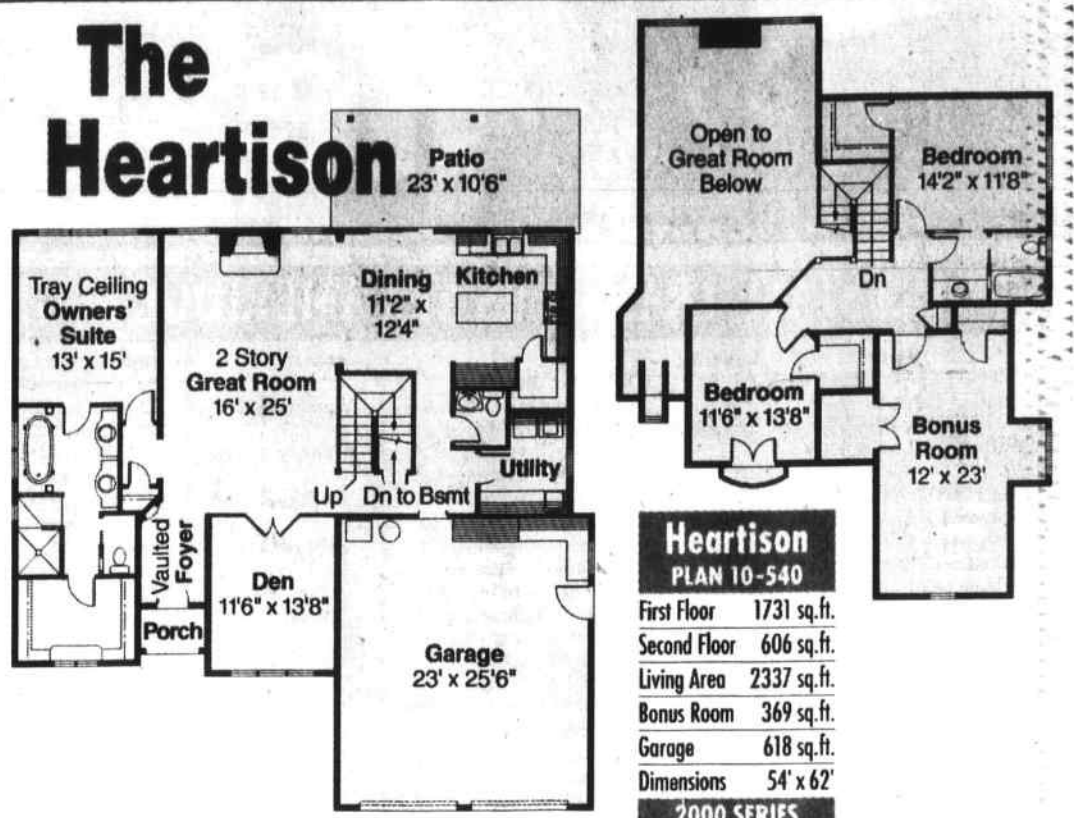

Entering, you step into a vaulted foyer where light streams down through a slender arched dormer window above. Straight ahead, the foyer opens out into an expansive two-story great room where windows flank a wide-hearthed fireplace on the rear wall.

Sliding glass doors lead out onto a covered patio that could be screened, if desired. Kitchen features include: a roomy walk-in pantry, large work island, and built-in appliances. Standing at the kitchen sink, you can watch the seasons change outside, or converse with people in the nook and living room. Laundry appliances are next to a powder room and direct access to the two-car garage. The owners' suite is in a wing by itself, with no rooms overhead. It has a classic tray ceiling, and a luxurious bathroom with twin sinks, claw foot tub, walk-in shower, and private toilet. The suite's commodious walk-in closet even has a built-in dresser with an arched window above it. From the railed loft on the 2nd floor, you can overlook the great room. Two br's, a bath and a large bonus room are also on the upper level. Both bedrooms have walk-in closets, and the bonus room storage space, in a sloped-ceiling closet. For a review plan, send $25 to Associated Designs, 1100 Jacobs Dr., Eugene, OR 97402
